"The Nearer the Bone, the Sweeter the Meat."

The maker of merchandise has reached the end of his Summer "tether."

His season is about over; yours has just begun.

He's anxious to sell what is left of his made up product at almost any reasonable sacrifice.

We're watching your interests in this matter, and as a result have made purchases that will surprise you by their price cheapness.

Makers of Shirt Waists

Are straining every nerve to get rid of the balance of their season's product. It's a big chance for the consumer to buy these dainty Summer garments at a big drop from early season's prices. At least we thought so when we cornered these lots. It's a case of quick sale, and first come, first served.

Hard Times Continue.

But we Find a Way to keep Things Moving.

In June of this year our sales exceeded the same month of 1895 by 45 per cent., and the same month of 1894 by 72 1-2 per cent.

We doubt if there are a dozen firms in the West which can show such an extraordinary increase in sales under such a discouraging condition of retail trade.

But the recent enlargement of our already very extensive salesrooms—our increase in stock, especially in fine and very fine goods and our cut in prices to about one half the profits of former times, has given us a patronage altogether beyond anything we have ever enjoyed.

"Good Times Are Coming,"

And when they arrive we propose to be occupying a front seat in the business "Band Wagon."

CAN THE BLIND SEE?

Can the eyesight be preserved? Can imperfect vision be restored? Can the aged enjoy reading as the young? Can science assist you? These are important questions. Remember that eyesight is priceless and that sight once lost can never be regained. Persons will buy a pair of cheap, imperfect spectacles, thinking it economy, not knowing that they are doing themselves irreparable injury until it is too late. The popular opinion that the use of glasses should be postponed as long as possible is erroneous.

As soon as you find your sight failing, go at once to an eye specialist and have your eyes tested and glasses properly fitted.

THREE CONVENTIONS

South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa.

The Two Former Favor Bryan, the Latter McKinley.

A Plan by Which the Populists Hope to Capture a State and Help the Democracy Also.

HURON, S. D., July 15.—The platform was not presented to the populists state convention until after 11 o'clock last night. It declares that all land now held and unused by railroads not in actual use should be reclaimed by the government and sold to actual settlers; also, the government ownership of sufficient railroad mileage to control transportation.

It also declares for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1. It declares for postal savings banks, demands direct legislation and the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people. It also declares for more money, to increase prices and legislation to maintain them. The platform denounces the present state administration. It declares for the Iowa railroad law, known as the Wheeler bill; endorses Senator Kyle, commends Senator Pettigrew and his colleagues and instructs its electors to vote for a free silver president. The delegates to the St. Louis convention are instructed to work with the silverites, and W. J. Bryan is suggested as the most available candidated. The platform also declares that prohibition should be voted on regardless of party affiliations. A minority report recommending state control of the liquor traffic was defeated. The populists' committee conceded to the silverites one of the railroad commissioners. To the silver democrats they have conceded four electors.

At 1 o'clock this morning, after a warfare of words over endorsing Bryan, occupying two hours, the question was brought to a vote, resulting in a vote of two to one in favor of the endorsement. Adjourned till today.

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 15.—For the first time in many years the republican state convention today met with rainy weather. The dampness, however, appeared to have little effect on the assembled politicians, who were out early in large numbers. Caucuses were held in nine of the eleven congressional districts and members of the usual committees were named. A general belief prevailed that the main fight will be over railroad commissioner and secretary of state. The platform declares warmly in support of the St. Louis platform and says the party in Iowa is in line with the national party. The history of the past is reviewed and the party is complimented all through. Rollin J. Wilson, who was selected as temporary chairman, was prostrated by the heat yesterday and was unable to preside. Congressman Hepburn was selected to fill the place. He made a strong speech in line with the platform. State Auditor McCarthy, Treasurer Herritt and Attorney General Remley will be renominated by acclamation.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 15.—The populists state convention to select delegates to the national convention at St. Louis convened at 11 a. m. amid great enthusiasm. Bryan men were in the majority on all sides. Four hundred delegates composed the convention, not a full representation. Temporary Chairman Elder presided. The name of Bryan as the only feasible candidate for president, is every where heard. The way of getting at the nomination or endorsement is the only bone of contention. Only one delegate has made himself known who opposes Bryan and he is from Omaha, Dan Burr. A Bryan delegation and none other will be sent to St. Louis. The Bryan enthusiasts have no fear whatever over the outcome.

Senator Allen and Governor Holcomb are mentioned as certain to head the delegation. The slate at present is this: Bryan is to receive the unqualified endorsement of the convention and in return the democrats of the state, whose organization is wholly controlled by the Bryan element, will put no state ticket in the field, but will endorse the populist nominee. This scheme worked two years ago when Governor Holcomb was nominated and Bryan has the prestige of having arranged that plan of fusion.

FATALLY BURNED.

Pearl Sheppard's Clothing Ignited Accidentally in a Buggy.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., July 15.—Miss Pearl Sheppard, living at Everton, Fayette county, was almost burned to death while riding in a buggy with her brother, George. He had lighted a cigar, and threw a match in the buggy, which ignited his sister's clothing. He quickly lifted her from the vehicle, and, by tearing her clothes off and then wrapping her in his coat, he extinguished the fire, but not until the sister was fatally burned.

To Work for Gold.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 15.—J. Edward Addicks, the gas king of Delaware, is to head the corporation to work for gold in the gravel beds of the Cariboo. The company which has been incorporated under the name of the British Northwest Gold Manufacturing company, limited, has a capital stock of $5,000,000, and will operate on the Fishback property on the Quesnelle, well known as the most important gold bearing tributary of the Frazer river. In this tract are seven hundred acres, with an average depth to bed rock of 275 feet, all of which it is estimated will pay at least twelve and a half cents per cubic yard.

CALL ON THE MAJOR.

Five Hundred Cleveland Ladies at Canton.

CANTON, Ohio, July 15.—Despite a blinding rain storm, 500 representative women of Cleveland came to Canton this morning, arriving here at 11:45 They were headed by a splendid woman's brass band and were met by a committee of Canton women. Fortunately, as their train reached Canton the sun broke through the clouds and forming in columns of two, they marched to the McKinley home. There thousands of people blocked the streets and surged through the grounds in great confusion. When quiet was restored Mrs. Elroy M. Avery, in a very eloquent address, congratulated Major McKinley in behalf of the ladies of Cleveland upon receiving the republican nomination. Governor McKinley, as he mounted a chair on his veranda, after the enthusiasm of waving handkerchiefs and parasols and hand-clapping, said:

"I greatly appreciate this friendly call from the women of the city of Cleveland and assure you that I do not undervalue their gracious message of congratulation and confidence which you have so eloquently delivered."

NEW YORK, July 15.—The condition of Cornelius Vadderbilt, sr, who was stricken with paralysis yesterday, was this morning reported to be slightly improved, although still sufficiently serious as to warrant the gravest apprehension. Drs. McLane, Delafield and Draper remained at the bedside of Mr. Vanderbilt throughout the night and everything known to medical science was done for the relief of the patient.

Admitting Wines Free.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—According to the report of United States Consul General Mills, at Honolulu, the Hawaiian legislature has passed an act acmitting wines containing less than 18 per cent. of alcohol free of duty and increasing the duty on spiritous liquors. In consequence, California wines which have been taxed fifteen cents per gallon will escape import duties.

Prohibiting Speculations.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—At the instance of the Agrarian leaders the German reichstag has just enacted a law prohibiting speculation in options and also intended to restrict speculation in stocks. The new law, beyond doubt will affect seriously the sale of American securities in Germany aside from its effect upon the grain markets.

BUBBLED OVER

SALEM, Ill., July 15.—It is doubtful if the natives of this town ever before allowed their enthusiasm to bubble over to such an extent as it did today. The scorching July sun had scarcely appeared above the horizon when the town was shaken by a thunderous cannonading of anvils, which were fired off at regular intervals from sunrise until noon day. This discharge of blacksmiths artillery aroused the people to an unusual state of activity early in the day.

Wagons loaded with farmers from the surrounding country began to arrive almost at day light and by noon day the hitching racks around the business center of the town and all the feed yards and livery stables were crowded.

And they came in on excurion trains from neighboring towns and adjoining counties to take part in the great celebration to be given here this afternoon and evening in honor of William J. Bryan, the democratic nominee for president, who thirty-six years ago first saw the light of day in this quiet, sleepy old country town.

In response to the proclamation issued by the mayor yesterday all business houses in the city were abundantly decorated with flags and bunting and the portrait of the distinguished citizen of Salem. And nearly all the dwelling houses were decorated with patriotic emblems and flowers, and sprigs of evergreen. At the corners of all the principal streets, enterprising citizens had erected lemonade stands and ice cream booths, which luxuries they dispensed to the sweltering multitude at five cents a drink and ten cents a dish. Nearly all the vehicles that run in the streets were adorned with stars and stripes and some of the more enthusiastic drivers of teams dragged out from the dust and corners of the barns, strings of sleigh bells that have hung there since the last snow melted away, and fastened them to the horses. The merry tinkle of these bells in the scorching rays of the hot July sun was a cruel reminder of the cold bracing air in which they orignally were intended to be used.

The ladies of the town and the surrounding country, and there are many of them and nearly all of them are handsome, displayed their loyalty for the presidential nominee by appearing in white dresses today with red or blue sashes and white caps and over the vizor of each was printed in silver letters, "William J. Bryan."

People began to gather in the court house square, where a big stand had been erected for the speakers at the celebration, fully two hours before the time for the demonstration to begin. The great elm and maple trees which surround the court house had, like the other trees of the town, been freshly whitewashed, and they were decorated in addition with bunting and flags.

It was in this court house that Mr. Bryan years ago made his first political speech, and it was in this court house that his father for twelve years presided over the circuit court. On the platform along with the speakers who had been invited from all the state to come and participate in the rejoicing of the people of Salem, were the mayor and council of the city and of other distinguished citizens. The Hon. F. Kagey, who graduated in the same class with Mr. Bryan at Illinois college, Jacksonville, presided at the meeting.

STORM SPOILS THE CELEBRATION.

While the hundreds of people who have come from all over this part of the state to attend the Bryan celebration were assembling in the court house yard today a big black cloud loomed up in the northwest. It approached with frightful rapidity. There were terrific peals of thunder and there was a scattering of people in every direction to get out of the fast approaching rain. Many of the people became panic stricken, as they still had an unpleasant recollection of the awful cyclone which passed through this region a few weeks ago when St. Louis was almost ruined. Many of the teams brought to town by the farmers became frightened and tried to break loose from the hitching racks about the square, so that for a time it looked as if a general stampede would result.

At length the rain broke and it came down in torrents. All the while there was a continuous flashing of lightning, followed by an uproarious booming of thunder. In a space of ten minutes the bunting, flags and draping of the buildings, which had looked so attractive in the morning, were bedraggled and almost ruined.

As the storm continued, the darkness increased until it was almost impossible to see across the streets, and in the houses lights became necessary. When it had rained for almost fifteen minutes the storm seemed to change its course. It swept around to the north of town, but the rain continued to fall.

In less than half an hour the storm seemed to have spent itself and it settled down for a steady rain. It was an ordinary thunder storm, but of unusual violence, and, owing to the darkness, it caused a great deal of alarm At 12 o'clock it looked as if it would rain all the afternoon.

County Central Committeeman Samuel J Smith, who has had charge of the arrangements of the celebration, said that if the rain did not stop the speeches would be made in the court house.

MORE RIOTS.

Strikers Attack Workmen at the Hoisting Works.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 15.—Further disorders occurred at the Brown Hoisting and Conveying works this morning The strikers and their sympathizers attacked the non-union men while the latter were on their way to work. In numerous cases the non-unionists were beaten with clubs and felled to the ground. C. W. Jackson, one of the unfortunate men who was attacked by a crowd of union men, received no less than fifteen knife cuts on the face and body and had three ribs broken. For a time the police, who were greatly outnumbered by the rioters, were unable to cope with the mob. The officers on duty around the works were finally reinforced, however, and succeeded in driving the enraged strikers back and rescuing the non union men.

After the police had quelled the trouble quiet prevailed around the works. Two companies of militia have been ordered under arms, as it is believed that another outbreak will occur this evening when the non-union workmen leave the works.

THEY'LL FIGHT SALOONS

Managers of Robison Park Wage War on Gearry,

Who Has Established a Saloon Near Their Grounds—Arrested on Twenty Charges.

When the managers of the Fort Wayne Consolidated Electric railroad established the Robison park as a resort for the people they determined that it should be a place where no intoxicating liquors should be sold and for this reason they have refused all applications for the location of a saloon on the grounds of the park or near to it.

But where there is an opening for a saloon, some saloon man will try to creep in, notwithstanding the opposition, and so about a month ago Edward Geary, who formerly ran a saloon on Griffith street, went to work and put up a building northeast of Robison park, and about one mile from it, and opened a saloon, where he has since been dealing out intoxicants to all the park visitors and others who call on him.

The street railroad company has been opposing him and this morning they caused to be filed five affidavits against him, for selling liquor without a licenses, selling liquor on Sunday and selling liquor on the Fourth of July. The affidavits were sworn to by two of the employes of the company, Frank E Scatterday and William Dewland. Warrants were issued and placed in the hands of Constable Roembke, who will make the arrest, and Geary will have a hearing before Justice Harry F. France.

Five affidavits were also filed in the court of Justice Bullerman against Geary for selling on Sunday, five in Justice Huser's court and five in Justice Tancey's court, making twenty affidavits in all against him. It is the determination of the park managers to prosecute Geary until he gives up his business and also to serve others who seek to sell liquors in the vicinity of the park in the same way.

REV. J. S. AINSLIE.

Sixth Anniversary of His Pastorate Celebrated.

On Monday evening, the members and friends of Plymouth church were given an elegant reception in recognition of the sixth anniversary of their pastor's coming to this city. The spacious social rooms of the church were beautifully decorated for the occasion by the ladies, and besides the pleasing music of the Star Mandolin orchestra, Messrs. Curdes and Griffith sang a duet, Mr. Griffith a solo and Mrs. Frank Culbertson gave a piano solo. Rev. E. E. Frame brought a felicitous message from the South church, which is a filial daughter of Plymouth; Rev. P. J. Rice brought congratulations from the other churches of the city, noting especially the business success of the new church enterprise, the steady and remarkable growth of the church membership from less than one hundred six years ago, to nearly four hundred at present, and also noting the power of the church in the city for good. President George Hindley, of Ridgeville college, was present, and in a message both humorous and forcible, spoke of how the success of the Fort Wayne church in the last six years, had been an inspiration to the whole family of Congregational churches in the state. The pastor, Rev. J. S. Ainslie, dwelt upon the work of the church, showing how from year to year there has been a growing momentum of power in the various departments and how the gain of the sixth year has surpassed any preceeding year.

After the exercises, refreshments were served in the large dining hall, and the remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse. Mr. Ainslie will preach next Sunday, both morning and evening, and then will go east for his vacation. He will first go to Boston in the interest of Ridgeville college and spend August with friends at Ithaca, N. Y.

He was a New Yorker by birth, but, attaining manhood, he removed to Virginia, where he accumulated a large fortune, which was afterward entirely swept away by the war. Mr. Sherman was loyal to the union cause, and on account of his accurate knowledge of the country he became a guide to McDowell's division of the Army of the Potomac, and afterward entered the secret service under General Baker, of whom he was a trusted lieutenant in many expeditions and became his friend. During one of these trips near his old home his presence was betrayed by an old neighbor, and Sherman was captured by Mosby's men and was reported hanged. Instead of being executed he was taken to Richmond. He was confined ten months in Castle Thunder, and after thirteen months more at the Salisbury, N. C., prison, he effected his escape and reported to his chief for duty, continuing in that service until the close of the war. He was seventy-six years old and leaves a widow and four children.

IS WITH HIS PARTY.

He Stands Squarely on the State and National Platforms — Gives Expression to His Views.

Mr. Robinson has just returned from Chicago, where he had been in attendance upon the democratic national convention, and in reply to a question from a Journal representative as to how the handling of the money question in the platform suited him, he said:

"In my speech accepting the congressional nomination I said that I placed my confidence in the decision of our state and national conventions, representing as they would all parts of the country, bringing together the feelings and views of all and comparing and weighing the local information from every quarter and having a full view of the whole ground. I felt they would give us a platform on which we might rest with confidence that it would protect the rank and file of the people. I have heretofore been quoted through the press as being in favor of the silver issue, notably in the correspondence of the Washington representatives of the Indianapolis News and the Cincinnati Enquirer, which articles were reprinted in our district papers. These expressions voiced my sentiments. I believed that a candidate singularly favored by a unanimous nomination could well wait until his united party in convention assembled agreed upon a policy, and then in common with democrats loyally support its principles so declared."

"It certainly is. In all the campaigns since and including 1882 in which I have participated we heard from democratic newspapers and from the stump of the crime of 1873, the demonitization of silver. This was an issue repeatedly urged and it met an approval on the part of voters.

"It is no surprise that with the public utterances of Sherman, Linncoln, Blaine and a host of other republican statesmen and the universal democratic authority on the disastrous effect of lessening the volume of standard money, coupled with the wide spread disasters that are largely attributable to the demonitization of silver—it is no wonder that those who are so seriously affected should insist on the restoration of silver to its former place in our monetary system.

"I believe the people at the polls will endorse the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation, and the demand that the standard silver dollar shall be a full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts, public and private, and such legislation as will prevent the demonetization of any kind of legal tender money by private contract.

"I shall work in the campaign as I always have for the success of those principles declared by our party in their conventions, and I think without disparagement to any state or national candidate that our party was singularly fortunate in the selection of such standard bearers as Benjamin F. Shively and William J. Bryan."

NEW SUPERINTENDENT.

A Strong School Man, Endorsed by Prominent Educators of the State.

The board of school trustees this afternoon announce the name of the new superintendent. He is Justin N. Study, at present superintendent of the public schools at Richmond, Ind.

Mr. Study accepted the position yesterday, after securing from the board at Richmond his release, and will be in the city on Friday for the purpose of making final arrangements with the board and canvassing the subject of the work to be performed. Mr. Study was not a candidate for the place, and was considered by the board upon the earnest recommendation of Dr. J. H. Smart, president of Purdue university and other educators of great prominence.

He has been twelve years at Richmond, three years at Greencastle, and ten years at Anderson, and is recognized as one of the strongest school men in the west, bringing to his new position the ripe experience of years of successful labor. He is in the prime of life, a pleasant gentleman to meet and will be deservedly popular with the patrons of the schools, the teachers, scholars and the public at large.

The board had received a large number of applications, but the importance of the position made it necessary that no undue haste be used in making the selection.

A telegram from Richmond says: "Supt Justin N. Study, of the Richmond city schools, has resigned to accept the superintendency of the schools at Fort Wayne. Mr. Study has had charge of the schools here for twelve years and has raised them to a standing second to none in the state, with the possible exception of those of Indianapolis. Before coming here he was connected with the schools at Greencastle and Anderson."

FATEFUL DEATH

Lays Its Hand Heavily on the Hager Family.

Father, Wife and Daughter, All Pass Away Within Two Years—Other Deaths.

Died, at his home at New Haven, Henry Hager, an old resident of that town, having lived there for upwards of thirty years. Death was caused by dropsy of the heart, and the end was unexpected. He had been ailing for several days, but nothing serious was anticipated, and his demise was a shock to his many friends.

Mr. Hager was sixty-four years of age. An unusually sad circumstance in connection with his death is the fact that his wife died two years ago and his daughter, who was the wife of W. B. Stocks, died last March, the entire family thus passing away inside of two years. There are no surviving relatives in this county. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Lutheran church at New Haven.

OTHER DEATHS.

A telegram was received today of the death of Mr. Charles Delagrange at Akron, Ohio, her home. The deceased formerly made her home at Academie, this county, and the bereaved husband is a brother of Frank Delagrange, of this city.

The funeral of Mrs. Charles W. Weller will take place at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the residence, 92 West Jefferson street.

Hannah Stif, aged five months, died of summer complaint last night in the Harrington block. The parents recently came here from Syria, of which nationality there is quite a colony living in the same building. The funeral occurred this afternoon, the interment being in the Catholic cemetery.

The funeral of Courtland Huff took place from the house, No. 5 Brandriff street, this afternoon, Rev. Cooper conducting the services.

Theodore, the three months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ertel, of 202 Gay street, died of flesh decay last night. Funeral will be held tomorrow.

FEARFUL DEATH.

Young Son of Joseph Smith Fatally Scalded.

While Engaged in Innocent Play He Falls Into a Tub of Hot Water.

Word was received in the city last night of the fatal scalding of Gerard, the two year old son of Joseph Smith, who resides in Lafayette township.

Mrs. Smith was doing the family washing yesterday, and had left a tub of scalding water on the kitchen floor while she went in the yard to hang out the clothes. Little Gerard, while engaged in innocent play with a pet dog, toddled too near the tub and fell backward into it. The screams of the child attracted Mrs. Smith and her husband who did all in their power to save its life, but unsuccessfully, for the little one passed away a few hours afterward, suffering fearful agony to the last. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have widespread sympathy in their awful bereavement.

LIGHTNING'S WORK.

The Barn of William A. Hamilton Destroyed by Fire.

Lightning struck the barn of William A. Hamilton, in Aboite township, last night, setting fire to the structure and causing its destruction. A large quantity of hay and some costly agricultural machinery was in the barn at the time, all of which was consumed. By energetic action the horses and cattle were saved. The loss is estimated at $2 000. There is insurance to partially cover it.

THE city school board have selected a new superintendent for our public schools, Mr. Justin N. Study, of Richmond, who is said to be highly equipped every way for the duties of the position. His name, Study, is suggestive and ought to be an inspiration to every pupil in our schools.

OUR candidate for congress, Mr. James M. Robinson, in an interview, declares himself for the free coinage of silver. He is with his party on the money question, as expressed in the state and national platforms.

THE DAILY ARGUS at Laporte made its first appearance last Saturday. It is an eight column folio, and bears evidence of having come to stay. The Wadsworth company are the publishers of this new candidate for popular favor.

THE mix-up in the political situation is curiously illustrated in Michigan. The Detroit Tribune, the leading republican paper of the state, has bolted the St. Louis platform and is supporting the free silver candidates, while the leading democratic paper, the Free Press, bolts the Chicago platform and supports McKinley.

THIS is a great year for bolting. Every national convention thus far held has witnessed its secession. The fashion started with our prohibition friends, who split upon the silver proposition. This was followed by the bolt at St. Louis, and then came the divide which took place in the democratic convention at Chicago.

DR. JOHN S. IRWIN, who, with the end of the last school year, closed his services as superintendent of the public schools of this city, has filled that position efficiently for a number of years and in retiring carries with him the esteem of all our citizens. Under his superintendency the schools of our city have made marked progress and it is generally considered that Fort Wayne stands at the head of the list in the efficiency of her free schools. Much of this is due to Dr. Irwin, who was always active in advancing its interests.

OUR editorial friend, Mr. Frank J. Zimmerman, who for a long time has been publishing the Weekly Union at Warsaw, has again launched a daily at that place called the Warsaw Evening Herald. It is a seven column folio and warmly supports the nomination of Bryan and Sewall. Mr. Zimmerman is a trained and able newspaper man and THE SENTINEL wishes him success in his daily venture.

THE nomination of the Hon. Arthur Sewall, of Maine, as the running mate of William J. Bryan, did more than refute the charge of sectionalism urged against the Chicago convention. Mr. Sewall is a man of extensive affairs, aside from his large shipbuilding interests. He is the president and principal owner of the Bank of Bath, and there is hardly a corporation in his native county, whether bank, factory or railroad, in which he is not a director. The brief biographical sketchs in the newspapers tell us that in politics Mr. Sewall has been a life-long democrat. He was an original Cleveland man and followed the career of the Buffalo statesman until about two years ago. Ever since the greenback victory which swept Maine in 1880 Mr. Sewall has been a close student of the financial question and this has crystalized in him to a thorough belief in bimetallism and the free coinage of both silver and gold.

IN the conditions and circumstances which attended the nomination of Wm. J. Bryan in the Chicago convention the other day every casual observer has noticed the parallel to that dramatic incident which, sixteen years ago, in the same city, resulted in the nomination of James A. Garfield as the candidate of the republican party for president. Then, as in the recent case, it was the eloquence of the man, as disclosed in a convention speech, that turned the tide in his favor, and then, as in the recent case, the episode was attended by the most extraordinary exhibition of enthusiasm. There were some important differences in the conditions, it is true, but they only make the similarity more marked. Garfield's speech was made in the interest of a man and Bryan's in support of a principle. In one the inspiring influence of friendship and loyalty was presumably the force that put eloquence on the tongue, and in the other that even more potential agency—devotion to a cause—was the dominant spirit. Garfield's speech was probably the more profound; Bryan's the more magnetic. But they were alike masterful specimens of oratorical fire and force, and each brought the answer.

In Place of the Saloon.

As a matter of curiosity, if nothing else, a Harvard professor's views on the beer saloon are worth reading. These are to be found in Professor Peabody's "Substitutes For the Saloon."

The learned gentleman is of opinion that the saloon flourishes not so much because of the poor man's love of drink as because of his love of sociability, and in this he is no doubt right. The professor repeats, what has often been said before, that the drinking saloon is the poor man's club. In it he finds light, merriment, games and newspapers. A place therefore that would combine the social features without the intoxicating drink feature would constitute the model substitute for the saloon. This is true; still it would not stop the evil caused by too much beer drinking. It is in deluging himself with sour, swill-like, cheap beer, "rushing the growler," as it is called, in the daytime, during rests in his working hours, that a good part of the laboring man's wages is spent. Professor Peabody would have to find a substitute for either this beer or the appetite that craves it if he would save the poor man's money. Perhaps if the poor man had more nourishing and palatable food for luncheon it would go far to stop the beer guzzling through the day.

The professor is of opinion that if somebody could invent an attractive drink that would not be intoxicating and if the poor man's social instinct could be satisfied at the same time without the accompaniment of intoxicating drinks, a long step forward in human progress would be made. The best social substitute for the saloon would be a poor man's club, where he could have games, reading, attractive environments, harmless drinks, etc. Attempts to provide such substitutes will be failures in every case if the poor man thinks there is any tang of religion or charity about them.

Exercise For Middle Aged People.

There are no old people now except those who voluntarily slump down and take a lazy satisfaction in saying they can no longer exert themselves as they did 20 years ago. They say so because they do not want to exert themselves. The most that the spry, up to date person past his youth will confess is that he is perhaps—well—getting along to be a little middle aged.

One priceless piece of knowledge this blessed last quarter of the nineteenth century has brought to the people who are perhaps getting along to be a little middle aged is that they actually need more physical exercise than young people do. Unless they take it and keep it up year after year they find themselves becoming fat and heavy and lumbering and stiff in the joints. They are less inclined than they were to walk and run and skip about. Yet giving up to this insidiously creeping laziness, for it is nothing else, is exactly what makes them become old, useless and decrepit.

Expressly for these persons who feel themselves slow and stiff and heavy a merciful providence seems to have permitted to be designed the bicycle. It limbers the joints and takes off the cumbersome fat as nothing else will. It makes the brain clear, the eye and the hand strong and steady and keeps the heart forever young. After one learns to control it there is not so much danger in riding it as there is in riding in a carriage. The bicycle is a horse that never scares and hardly ever runs away.

Finally no man or woman alive is too old to learn to ride the bicycle.

AN EASY WINNFR.

First Season of Inter-State League Now Closed.

Fort Wayne Gets Honors of First Place --Second Season Opens Tomorrow.

The first season of the Inter state league closed yesterday, with Fort Wayne an easy winner. The standing of the clubs at the wind up is as follows:

	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Per ct.
Fort Wayne	60	43	17	.717
Toledo	57	37	20	.649
Wheeling	57	31	26	.544
Jackson	61	33	28	.532
New Castle	59	27	32	.439
Saginaw	56	21	35	.375
Youngstown	58	20	38	.345
Washington	58	18	40	.310

The second season will open tomorrow, and it is not likely that Fort Wayne will have a walk away. The leaders have made a poor record the past few weeks, and were it not for the tremendous lead they made during the early part of the season, it would not have been so easy to retain first place. The seven other clubs, in the meantime, have built up their weak fences and are in better shape than they were in the start. It is to be hoped that Fort Wayne will use some good judgment now and hold her good name.

Barton, who reviews the situation carefully in the Wheeling News, states that when the season opened many of the teams were thrown together in a hurry. Much of the material was raw and untried. It took weeks to find out the weak spots and strengthen accordingly. This was the case with nearly every club except Fort Wayne and Wheeling. In the former case Tebeau's experience aided wonderfully in selecting men who were ready to get in harness at once. The Farmers thus got a long lead which the other teams were not able to overcome. Wheeling would have given them a tougher argument, but the gold bricks the managers had gotten in the way of pitchers proved a fatal weakness.

In the second season, at the first glance, it seems as if at least four clubs have equal chances of winning. Wheeling, Fort Wayne, New Castle and Toledo. It is almost an even thing with all these clubs. So far as you can estimate chances in base ball it is an even thing. The game these teams have been putting up in the last few days is proof of that. Last week Toledo lowered the Fort Wayne colors in great shape and Jackson gave them the same dose.

A point that makes it look favorable for these clubs is their strength in the pitching department. Fort Wayne always has been strong, although Swain and Carrick show signs of weakening. Toledo has an assortment in Keenan, Kelb, Van Geisen and Coyle that is hard to beat, while New Castle's Hickman, Hewitt and Farmer Brown, with Daniels to fall back on, make that team very formidable.

There does not appear to be much hope for the rest of the teams. Jackson would be as strong as any, but it is weak on the rubber, the same point that cost Wheeling the first pennant. With two or three good pitchers Jackson could take a position among the probable winners. Until then, however, it will be a case of "also ran." Washington has no show with its present team. Although always dangerous, the Millionaires are not of the sort that win pennants. None of their pitchers are men who can be relied upon, while the team is weak in other places. Saginaw and Youngstown are something of an enigma. It is reported that they are considerably strengthened and there are many new faces on the teams, but still more missionary work will have to be done to get them to the required standard.

Wheeling has now a stronger team than it has had since the opening of base ball here. The weakness in the pitching department has been remedied. Instead of being weak there the team is now abnormally strong. It has seven good men and the chief difficulty will be in selecting what ones to release. Borchers, Campbell, Garvey and Baker will probably be the men to stay. In all other positions the team could not be improved. It is strong everywhere, in the field and at the bat.

One of the most gratifying features of the Interstate league is its stability. There is not a minor league in the country that is more solid or as well fixed financially. The Texas league has fallen, the Atlantic association has been reorganized, transfers have been made in the Eastern league, the Western association has been disbanded together with other small organizations Of the entire lot the Interstate and the Western leagues are the only ones that remain intact; the only ones with the same clubs that they started the season with Reports from all the towns are favorable. In each active preparations are being made for the opening of the second season which is ample proof that all intend to stick.

The most troublesome question that Interstate magnates have to deal with is the umpire troubles. The two good ones are sick and a number of unsatisfactory amateurs are cavorting around in their places. It is not President Power's fault that such is the case. Good umpires are scarcer than the proverbial hen teeth. No matter what the umpires are, however, such conduct as that of New Castle's on Thursday should be condemned in the severest terms.

STATE LEAGUE A GO.

Although late in the season it seems that the state league is to be a go, as the following towns have signified their willingness to enter into such a compact: Logansport, Kokomo, Elwood, Anderson, Connersville and Rushville. The question has been agitated throughout this district of the state since the beginning of the season, and now it appears just to be reaching crystalization.

JACK TAR'S FRIEND.

SAMUEL PLIMSOLL, WHO WANTS US TO LOVE ENGLAND.

He Is Going to Edit American School Histories and Wipe Out an Inherited Race Prejudice—Why All British Sailors Love Him.

Samuel Plimsoll, who has come over here from England to find out why Americans do not love the "mother country" better, is a genial, earnest, kindly old gentleman whose name is dear to every British tar afloat, and who is universally known as "the sailors' friend." He has already won undying fame by giving to the safety load line on British ships the name of the Plimsoll mark, but now, at the age of 70, he begins a new crusade with as much vigor as when he roused the British public to the woes of "poor Jack" more than a quarter of a century ago.

Mr. Plimsoll is a man of original ideas, and not the least interesting of his arguments in favor of his proposal for international unity is the somewhat startling statement that American enmity to England is responsible for the Armenian outrages. He explains this by declaring that, if it had not been for the threatening attitude of the United States over the Venezuelan difficulty, England would have pitched in, despite the frowns of Russia, and disciplined the Turk.

Most of Mr. Plimsoll's arguments, however, are more plausible than this. He thinks our school histories are at the bottom of the trouble, and he proposes to edit these for us. The first thing he did after arriving in New York the other day was to get a lot of textbook histories that are used in American schools. He wanted to compare the American accounts of the Revolution with those printed in British schoolbooks. When this work is done, Mr. Plimsoll will make a tour through the country and will try to arouse sympathy and enthusiasm for his project.

If all Englishmen were like Samuel Plimsoll, he would have not the slightest difficulty in achieving his object, and if all Americans were as good as he this would be a great and glorious nation. A great, big heart has Mr. Plimsoll—a heart that beats for all humanity. You know this as soon as you have seen the kindly, benevolent way in which he beams through his glasses at all the world.

More than 30 years ago he began his agitation on behalf of the British sailor, and in that time he has been instrumental in saving many thousands of lives. Being Bristol born, he was brought up among seafaring men and was familiar with all the hardships and injustices to which they were subject. In the autumn of 1863 he was a passenger on a coasting steamer during a terrific storm. Next morning he saw the coast from Flamborough Head to the Tees strewn with wrecks. He was so impressed with the awful loss of life and the knowledge that many of the wrecked vessels were known among the sailors as "coffin ships," from the fact that they were rotten old hulks which had been sent out under heavy insurance by their owners in the expectation that they would meet just such a fate, that then and there he determined to devote his time and abilities to the prevention of these human sacrifices on the altar of greed.

SAMUEL PLIMSOLL.

He visited many British seaports and found that, while the majority of ship owners were quite anxious to cooperate with him, there existed among them a class of "cranks," as they were called, who actually made money by sending worthless vessels to sea.

In 1865 he stood for parliament, but was defeated by a small majority. Three years later he was triumphant and held his seat from that time until 1880, when he resigned in order to further the cause. In 1875 Mr. Plimsoll introduced his famous bill to prevent the overloading of vessels. The government, under the lead of Lord Beaconsfield, then plain Benjamin Disraeli, at first seemed desirous of advancing the bill, but as the session drew to a close Mr. Disraeli calmly announced one night that it must be dropped.

Springing to his feet and quivering with emotion, Samuel Plimsoll faced the house of commons alone, and shaking his fist at the government and the opposition alike he dared them to adjourn before they had passed that bill for the protection of the lives of seamen.

Commons was shocked. The speaker sat speechless with amazement. The crowded galleries were awed into silence. It was a moment or two before there were loud cries of "Order!" "Order!" and then the speaker commanded the member from Derby to retire. Mr. Plimsoll did retire, but in a few hours the British workingmen were reading an account of that dramatic incident and an appeal from Mr. Plimsoll.

The country was aroused as if by magic. Mass meetings were held everywhere, and a fund of over $75,000 was raised to continue the campaign in the interests of protection to sailors. Disraeli's government bent before the rising storm, and a partial measure of relief was hurriedly passed. Since that there has been other legislation on behalf of Jack, and most of it has been the result of Mr. Plimsoll's untiring efforts.

Mr. Plimsoll once before visited this country on a mission, although he was not very successful. It was in the winter of 1890-1. He came over then to get material for his crusade against the overcrowding of cattleships and the consequent cruelty to the animals as well as the danger to the sailors. He tried to induce the Canadian shippers of live stock to do their slaughtering on this side instead of sending their cattle over alive. Some good resulted from his agitation, but the practice was not stopped by any means. Now, though his hair is white with age and his eyes are rather dim, he has undertaken the task of wiping out an inherited race prejudice and of uniting by bonds of brotherly love two of the greatest nations in the world.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

THE FIRST FLY OF THE SEASON

With ghoulish glee and loudly buzzing wing,
He comes to me—the pesky little thing;
I cannot see his winglets fan the air,
But all the same I know that he is there.

He wipes his feet upon my hairless pate
And does a song and dance in style elate
Until in rage I fiercely rise
To crush the thing before my glowering eyes.

I raise my hand with firm determination,
I strike—bent, bent upon extermination.
I miss him! seek my chair a reeling,
While he, gently buzzes to the ceiling.

Machinist Mills Celebrates His Temperance Anniversary.

Phillip Gable Injured—A Wonderful Engine—Personal and Local Gossip.

Thomas Mills, the well known Wabash machinist, is today quietly observing the nineteenth anniversary of his reformation. July 15, 1877, Mr. Mills, who was then addicted to the excessive use of intoxicating drinks, signed the Murphy temperance pledge and since that day has faithfully adhered to the obligations set forth in the little card upon which he then placed his signature. The reformation was regarded as one of the most notable events of the Murphy movement in Fort Wayne, and it restored to respectable manhood a man whom his family and friends feared was beyond all hope of redemption.

AN ENGINE BUILT FOR SPEED.

George F. Wilson, superintendent of motive power of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, has just built on his own designs at the company's shops a very fast passenger engine. The total weight of the locomotive is 125,000 pounds, of which 83,000 pounds is on the drivers. The driving wheels are 78 inches in diameter, being the largest on any locomotive running out of Chicago, except No 593, on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, whose drivers are 84½ inches. The wheel centers are cast steel, and the journals of driving axles 9x12 inches. The cylinders are 19½x26 inches. The firebox is of the deep, narrow type, with a length of 108 inches, a width of 32½ inches, a depth front of 79⅜ inches, back 68⅜ inches, and it has a heating surface of 194 3 square feet. The tubes are 290 in number and give a heating surface of 1,795 square feet, the total heating surface being 1,888 3 square feet. The grate area is 24 5 square feet. The working steam pressure is 190 pounds per square inch. The tender is of exceptionally large capacity, the tank holding 4,000 gallons of water, and the coal space being for 9 tons.

SHOPMAN INJURED.

Philip Gable, who has charge of a finishing room in the foundry department of the Bass works, was injured this morning in a manner which may lay him up for some days. He was handling a "chill," a heavy piece of perhaps 600 pounds, which is used in moulding car wheels, when it slipped off the bed of a machine and the sharp edge struck and cut a long gash across Mr. Gable's right leg, about two inches above the knee. The injury is a very painful one.

SELECTED A DELEGATE.

At a recent meeting of A. G. Porter lodge, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, Engineer F. J. Matz, of the Nickel Plate, was chosen to represent that lodge at the fifth biennial convention, which will convene at Galveston, Texas, September 8, and continue in session three or four weeks. Mr. Matz, while an engineer and elligible to membership in the B. of L. E., clings to the firemen's order. He is past master of the local lodge.

C. S. Downey and H. Overhulser, brakemen, have resumed their respective places on the Nickel Plate. Mr. Overhulser had been attending the funeral of his father.

The shipments from the electric works today were a 3,600 light incandescent dynamo to Denver, Colo., and a ten horse power motor each to Manville, R I, and Buffalo, N. Y.

Robert Kepple, who has been traveling passenger agent of the Nickel Plate for the last five years, has resigned to accept a more lucrative position with an eastern business house.

Mrs. William Birbeck, wife of the Wabash machinist, and daughter will go to Danville in a few days to visit Mr. Birbeck's brothers, who conduct a manufacturing business in that city.

Frank Fox, assistant foreman of the Pittsburg round house, has returned from a ten days' outing in northern Michigan. He had wonderful luck in fishing, a conservative estimate placing his catch at three tons, more or less.

Capt. H. M. Diehl, of the Pennsylvania air brake department, had two beautiful night blooming cerus out in bloom last night. The flowers were fine specimens of their kind and their fragrance filled the air of the neighborhood.

The new train the Wabash put on July 1 between Chicago and Detroit is meeting with large patronage. Going east the train leaves Chicago at 9.50 a m, and going west leaves Detroit at 8:20 a. m. The run is made in a little over eight hours.

The Missouri Pacific road has announced that it will make a rate of one fare for the round trip for the meeting of the Seventh Day Adventists at Council Grove, Kan., in August. The other roads in the Western Passenger association refused to make the one fare rate and Chairman Caldwell refuses to give the Missouri Pacific road any relief in the matter. It will now make the rates independently.

Charles Barnes has returned from Canton, Ohio, where, with his family, he spent two weeks very pleasantly with relatives and friends. This morning he resumed his place in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop. By the way, with the exception of Thomas Pauley and A. Rauner, who are suffering with chronic maladies, there is not one absentee from that department of the Pennsylvania shops, a state of affairs that has not happened before for several years. This fact may be taken as evidence that the sanitary conditions of the shops are first class.

HOT WEATHER DYSPEPSIA.

Hot weather dyspepsia may be recognized by the following symptoms: Depression of spirits, heaviness and pain in the stomach after meals, loss of flesh and appetite, no desire for food, bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, wind in stomach and bowels, irritable disposition, nervous weakness, weariness, costiveness, headache, palpitation, heartburn. It is a mistake to treat such troubles with "tonics," "blood purifiers," "cathartics," "pills," because the whole trouble is in the stomach. It is indigestion or dyspepsia and nothing else.

All these symptoms rapidly disappear when the stomach is relieved, strengthened, and cleansed by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They should be taken after meals and a few carried in the pocket to be used whenever any pain or distress is felt in the stomach. They are prepared only for stomach troubles.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are endorsed by such physicians as Dr. Harlandson, Dr. Jennison, and Dr. Mayer, because they contain the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which when taken into the stomach cause the prompt digestion of the food before it has time to ferment and sour, which is the cause of the mischief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are pleasant to take and unequaled for invalids, children and every person afflicted with imperfect digestion. It is safe to say they will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Nearly all the druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages at 50 cents. A book on stomach troubles and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Robert Carnahan and bride will arrive home from Grand Rapids this evening after a trip covering a period of a month. They will be accompanied by Miss Louise, who went to Grand Rapids to meet them.

Columbia City Post: "A distinguished gentleman in Fort Wayne announces that there will be 500 sound money democrats in Allen county who will not vote for Bryan, but he says there are 1,000 republicans who will. The informant is a republican, or was until recently."

Next Sunday evening, in Plymouth church, Rev. J. S. Ainslie will give an address upon "The Life and Times of Robert Burns," drawing some practical lessons therefrom. This is the hundreth anniversary of the poet's death. The members and families of the Caledonian society have been invited to be present.

J. A. Wilcox, a lawyer of St. Louis, was in the city today, en route to Kalamazoo, Mich. "Proposal parties" are all the rage in Bloomington. The young men propose to the young women and they in return propose to the young men. Some objection arises occasionally from the fact that the boys think the girls ought to do all the proposing now, it being leap year.

Rev. C. C. Cissell has received word to the effect that Rev. Frank Browne, Ph. D., of Huntington, has been appointed assistant editor of the Western Christian Advocate, at Cincicinnati, under Dr. D. H. Moore. Rev. Browne was a former pastor of Wayne street M E church in this city.

HER KISS, THEN DEATH.

Lightning Struck Valente Down at His Sweetheart's Feet.

A KISS, THEN DEATH.

Valente was sent swiftly to eternity in suburban New York last Sunday. The girl had scarce given him the caress when a bolt of lightning robbed her of her betrothed and threw her headlong across his lifeless body. A few hours before the two had become reconciled after months of separation, and they had gone out on a lovely country road to celebrate their reunion. The lover lay that night a corpse in the basement of the Kingsbridge police station. The young woman was in Fordham hospital paralyzed and suffering the greatest mental anguish. Valente was thirty-three years old, a tall, fine-looking fellow, with the darkest of hair and eyes and mustache. He was an overseer in the street cleaning department, New York city. The girl who was with him at his death was Louise Costella. She is only twenty years old, a very pretty and attractive young woman, a native of Italy, as was her lover. She earned a living by making cigars. Valente and Miss Costella became engaged about a year ago. They quarrelled four months ago, and so serious appeared the difference that they did not speak. Both were at early mass at the church in East Seventeenth street Sunday morning. So were several of their friends, who had planned to bring the angry lovers together. They succeeded. The two were brought face to face after mass, and then the young man escorted his regained sweetheart home.

Saved by a Brave Girl.

Miss Mamie Yaples, daughter of a farmer living near Ellenville, N. Y., distinguished herself by stopping a runaway horse and rescuing two children. Mrs. Joseph Hood, accompanied by her two daughters, were driving down a hill when the harness broke, frightening the horse and causing it to run wildly for nearly a mile. Mrs. Hood dropped the reins and clung to her children, screaming for help. Miss Yaples, who is an esquestrienne, was riding near her home when she saw the peril of mother and her children. Urging her own steed forward the brave girl soon intercepted the runaway horse, and seizing it by the bridle, saved Mrs. Hood and children, who were too weak to stand when taken from the wagon.

Death of Princess Angeline.

Princess Angeline, daughter of Chief Seattle, after whom the city of Seattle, Wash., was named, died the other day of pneumonia. People try to make her out over 100 years old, but this is an error, for the best posted people say she is not over 80. Romancers have given the public to understand she made a trip through the woods to save the town from an attack by Indians. This also deserves to rank with fairy stories.

Eloped on a Tandem.

Lewis Barney, a farmer of Narrowsburg, N. Y., recently purchased a bicycle for his daughter, Susie, contrary to his wife's wishes. The young woman and Mr. Frank Webb, her affianced, had planned an elopement for Sunday afternoon, but Mrs. Barney had secreted her daughter's wheel during the forenoon and refused to produce it. When informed of what had occurred young Webb determined to overcome all obstacles, and that evening appeared with a tandem at a neighbor's, where Miss Barney was calling, and after a ride of three miles they were married. Mr. and Mrs. Webb then rode back to the Barney homestead and were forgiven.

The maker of merchandise has reached the end of his Summer "tether."

His season is about over; yours has just begun.

We're watching your interests in this matter, and as a result have made purchases that will surprise you by their price cheapness.

Makers of Shirt Waists

Are straining every nerve to get rid of the balance of their season's product. It's a big chance for the consumer to buy these dainty Summer garments at a big drop from early season's prices. Hard Times Continue.

But we Find a Way to keep Things Moving.

In June of this year our sales exceeded the same month of 1895 by 45 per cent., and the same month of 1894 by 72 1-2 per cent.

We doubt if there are a dozen firms in the West which can show such an extraordinary increase in sales under such a discouraging condition of retail trade.

But the recent enlargement of our already very extensive salesrooms—our increase in stock, especially in fine and very fine goods and our cut in prices to about one half the profits of former times, has given us a patronage altogether beyond anything we have ever enjoyed.

"Good Times Are Coming,"

And when they arrive we propose to be occupying a front seat in the business "Band Wagon."

FOSTER.S

CAN THE BLIND SEE?

Can the eyesight be preserved? Can imperfect vision be restored? Can the aged enjoy reading, as the young? Can science assist you? These are important questions. Remember that eyesight is priceless and that sight once lost can never be regained. Persons will buy a pair of cheap, imperfect spectacles, thinking it economy, not knowing that they are doing themselves irreparable injury until it is too late. The popular opinion that the use of glasses should be postponed as long as possible is erroneous. As soon as you find your sight failing, go at once to an eye specialist and have your eyes tested and glasses properly fitted.

THREE CONVENTIONS

South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa.

The Two Former Favor Bryan, the Latter McKinley.

A Plan by Which the Populists Hope to Capture a State and Help the Democracy Also.

HURON, S. D., July 15.—The platform was not presented to the populists state convention until after 11 o'clock last night. It declares that all land now held and unused by railroads not in actual use should be reclaimed by the government and sold to actual settlers; also, the government owner ship of sufficient railroad mileage to control transportation.

It also declares for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1. It declares for postal savings banks, demands direct legislation and the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people. It also declares for more money, to increase prices and legislation to maintain them. The platform denounces the present state administration. It declares for the Iowa railroad law, known as the Wheeler bill; endorses Senator Kyle, commends Senator Pettigrew and his colleagues and instructs its electors to vote for a free silver president. The delegates to the St. Louis convention are instructed to work with the silverites, and W. J. Bryan is suggested as the most available candidated. The platform also declares that prohibition should be voted on regardless of party affiliations. A minority report recommending state control of the liquor traffic was defeated. The populists' committee conceded to the silverites one of the railroad commissioners. To the silver democrats they have conceded four electors.

At 1 o'clock this morning, after a warfare of words over endorsing Bryan, occupying two hours, the question was brought to a vote, resulting in a vote of two to one in favor of the endorsement. Adjourned till today.

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 15.—For the first time in many years the republican state convention today met with rainy weather. The dampness, however, appeared to have little effect on the assembled politicians, who were out early in large numbers. Caucuses were held in nine of the eleven congressional districts and members of the usual committees were named. A general belief prevailed that the main fight will be over railroad commissioner and secretary of state. The platform declares warmly in support of the St. Louis platform and says the party in Iowa is in line with the national party. The history of the past is reviewed and the party is complimented all through. Rollin J. Wilson, who was selected as temporary chairman, was prostrated by the heat yesterday and was unable to preside. Congressman Hepburn was selected to fill the place. He made a strong speech in line with the platform. State Auditor McCarthy, Treasurer Herritt and Attorney General Remley will be renominated by acclomation.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 15.—The populists state convention to select delegates to the national convention at St. Louis convened at 11 a. m. amid great enthusiasm. Bryan men were in the majority on all sides. Four hundred delegates composed the convention, not a full representation. Temporary Chairman Elder presided. The name of Bryan as the only feasible candidate for president, is every where heard. The way of getting at the nomination or endorsement is the only bone of contention. Only one delegate has made himself known who opposes Bryan and he is from Omaha, Dan Burr. A Bryan delegation and none other will be sent to St. Louis. The Bryan enthusiasts have no fear whatever over the outcome.

Senator Allen and Governor Holcomb are mentioned as certain to head the delegation. The slate at present is this: Bryan is to receive the unqualified endorsement of the convention and in return the democrats of the state, whose organization is wholly controlled by the Bryan element, will put no state ticket in the field, but will endorse the populist nominee. This scheme worked two years ago when Governor Holcomb was nominated and Bryan has the prestige of having arranged that plan of fusion.

FATALLY BURNED.

Pearl Sheppard's Clothing Ignited Accidentally in a Buggy.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., July 15.—Miss Pearl Sheppard, living at Everton, Fayette county, was almost burned to death while riding in a buggy with her brother, George. He had lighted a cigar, and threw a match in the buggy, which ignited his sister's clothing. He quickly lifted her from the vehicle, and, by tearing her clothes off and then wrapping her in his coat, he extinguished the fire, but not until the sister was fatally burned.

To Work for Gold.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 15.—J. Edward Addicks, the gas king of Delaware, is to head the corporation to work for gold in the gravel beds of the Cariboo. The company which has been incorporated under the name of the British Northwest Gold Manufacturing company, limited, has a capital stock of $5,000,000, and will operate on the Fishback property on the Quesnelle, well known as the most important gold bearing tributary of the Fraser river. In this tract are seven hundred acres, with an average depth to bed rock of 275 feet, all of which it is estimated will pay at least twelve and a half cents per cubic yard.

CALL ON THE MAJOR.

Five Hundred Cleveland Ladies at Canton.

CANTON, Ohio, July 15.—Despite a blinding rain storm, 500 representative women of Cleveland came to Canton this morning, arriving here at 11:45 They were headed by a splendid woman's brass band and were met by a committee of Canton women. Fortunately, as their train reached Canton the sun broke through the clouds and forming in columns of two, they marched to the McKinley home. There thousands of people blocked the streets and surged through the grounds in great confusion. When quiet was restored Mrs. Elroy M. Avery, in a very eloquent address, congratulated Major McKinley in behalf of the ladies of Cleveland upon receiving the republican nomination. Governor McKinley, as he mounted a chair on his veranda, after the enthusiasm of waving handkerchiefs and parasols and hand-clapping, said:

"I greatly appreciate this friendly call from the women of the city of Cleveland and assure you that I do not undervalue their gracious message of congratulation and confidence which you have so eloquently delivered."

THE TURF.

Grand Circuit Meeting at Saginaw, Mich.

SAGINAW, Mich., July 15.—The grand circuit races opened at Union park yesterday with about 2,000 people in attendance. The contests were exciting, with betting free on the field. Maxim was the only favorite to win. In the 2:16 class trotting race Sunland Clay was picked a favorite, but came in sixth place in the first heat and Baker, a Saginaw horse, won the race in three straight heats. Summaries:

2:28 class, trotting, Saginaw Valley stake, $1,000—Barnetts, first; Valence, second; Packett, third; Margaretta, fourth. Time—2:22. Jack Dawson, Miss Sphinx, Zasil Wilkes, Porter and Kathleen also ran.

An Epidemic of Diphtheria.

VALPARAISO, Ind., July 14.—The residents of Hebron, this county, are much excited over a threatened epidemic of diphtheria Schools, churches and public meetings have been discontinued by the county board of health. Two children of Frank Russell are dead, and five other members of the family are lying at the point of death. Six other cases are reported. Many of the school children have been exposed.

Cornelius Vanderbilt.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The condition of Cornelius Vadderbilt, sr, who was stricken with paralysis yesterday, was this morning reported to be slightly improved, although still sufficiently serious as to warrant the gravest apprehension. Drs. McLane, Delafield and Draper remained at the bedside of Mr. Vanderbilt throughout the night and everything known to medical science was done for the relief of the patient.

Admitting Wines Free.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—According to the report of United States Consul General Mills, at Honolulu, the Hawaiian legislature has passed an act acmitting wines containing less than 18 per cent. of alcohol free of duty and increasing the duty on spiritous liquors. In consequence, California wines which have been taxed fifteen cents per gallon will escape import duties.

Prohibiting Speculations.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—At the instance of the Agrarian leaders the German reichstag has just enacted a law prohibiting speculation in options and also intended to restrict speculation in stocks The new law, beyond doubt will affect seriously the sale of American securities in Germany aside from its effect upon the grain markets.

Silk Inspection Port.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The Japanese government has established a silk inspection port at Haioga and a meeting of the Japanese silk manufacturers has been called at Kobe to effect the diversion to that port of silk the export trade now centered at Yokohama.

Made a Knight.

LONDON, July 15.—Sir Donald A. Smith, the Canadian statesman and capitalist, was today invested at Windsor castle as a knight commander of the order at St. Michael and St. George.

The large crowds which daily throng our store, prove how thoroughly our remodeling sale is appreciated by the public.

BUBBLED OVER

SALEM, Ill., July 15.—It is doubtful if the natives of this town ever before allowed their enthusiasm to bubble over to such an extent as it did today. The scorching July son had scarcely appeared above the horizon when the town was shaken by a thunderous cannonading of anvils, which were fired off at regular intervals from sunrise until noon day. This discharge of blacksmiths artillery aroused the people to an unusual state of activity early in the day.

Wagons loaded with farmers from the surrounding country began to arrive almost at day light and by noon day the hitching racks around the business center of the town and all the feed yards and livery stables were crowded.

And they came in on excurion trains from neighboring towns and adjoining counties to take part in the great celebration to be given here this afternoon and evening in honor of William J. Bryan, the democratic nominee for president, who thirty-six years ago first saw the light of day in this quiet, sleepy old country town.

In response to the proclamation issued by the mayor yesterday all business houses in the city were abundantly decorated with flags and bunting and the portrait of the distinguished citizen of Salem. And nearly all the dwelling houses were decorated with patriotic emblems and flowers, and sprigs of evergreen. At the corners of all the principal streets, enterprising citizens had erected lemonade stands and ice cream booths, which luxuries they dispensed to the sweltering multitude at five cents a drink and ten cents a dish. Nearly all the vehicles that run in the streets were adorned with stars and stripes and some of the more enthusiastic drivers of teams dragged out from the dust and corners of the barns, strings of sleigh bells that have hung there since the last snow melted away, and fastened them to the horses. The merry tinkle of these bells in the scorching rays of the hot July sun was a cruel reminder of the cold bracing air in which they orignally were intended to be used.

The ladies of the town and the surrounding country, and there are many of them and nearly all of them are handsome, displayed their loyalty for the presidential nominee by appearing in white dresses today with red or blue sashes and white caps and over the vizor of each was printed in silver letters, "William J. Bryan."

People began to gather in the court house square, where a big stand had been erected for the speakers at the celebration, fully two hours before the time for the demonstration to begin. The great elm and maple trees which surround the court house had, like the other trees of the town, been freshly whitewashed, and they were decorated in addition with bunting and flags.

It was in this court house that Mr. Bryan years ago made his first political speech, and it was in this court house that his father for twelve years presided over the circuit court. On the platform along with the speakers who had been invited from all the state to come and participate in the rejoicing of the people of Salem, were the mayor and council of the city and of other distinguished citizens. The Hon. F. Kagey, who graduated in the same class with Mr. Bryan at Illinois college, Jacksonville, presided at the meeting.

STORM SPOILS THE CELEBRATION.

While the hundreds of people who have come from all over this part of the state to attend the Bryan celebration were assembling in the court house yard today a big black cloud loomed up in the northwest. It approached with frightful rapidity. There were terrific peals of thunder and there was a scattering of people in every direction to get out of the fast approaching rain. Many of the people became panic stricken, as they still had an unpleasant recollection of the awful cyclone which passed through this region a few weeks ago when St. Louis was almost ruined. Many of the teams brought to town by the farmers became frightened and tried to break loose from the hitching racks about the square, so that for a time it looked as if a general stampede would result.

At length the rain broke and it came down in torrents All the while there was a continuous flashing of lightning, followed by an uproarious booming of thunder. In a space of ten minutes the bunting, flags and draping of the buildings, which had looked so attractive in the morning, were bedraggled and almost ruined.

As the storm continued, the darkness increased until it was almost impossible to see across the streets, and in the houses lights became necessary. When it had rained for almost fifteen minutes the storm seemed to change its course. It swept around to the north of town, but the rain continued to fall.

In less than half an hour the storm seemed to have spent itself and it settled down for a steady rain. It was an ordinary thunder storm, but of unusual violence, and, owing to the darkness, it caused a great deal of alarm. At 12 o'clock it looked as if it would rain all the afternoon.

County Central Committeeman Samuel J Smith, who has had charge of the arrangements of the celebration, said that if the rain did not stop the speeches would be made in the court house.

MORE RIOTS.

Strikers Attack Workmen at the Hoisting Works.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 15.—Further disorders occurred at the Brown Hoisting and Conveying works this morning The strikers and their sympathizers attacked the non-union men while the latter were on their way to work In numerous cases the non-unionists were beaten with clubs and felled to the ground. C. W. Jackson, one of the unfortunate men who was attacked by a crowd of union men, received no less than fifteen knife cuts on the face and body and had three ribs broken. For a time the police, who were greatly outnumbered by the rioters, were unable to cope with the mob. The officers on duty around the works were finally reinforced, however, and succeeded in driving the enraged strikers back and rescuing the non union men.

After the police had quelled the trouble quiet prevailed around the works. Two companies of militia have been ordered under arms, as it is believed that another outbreak will occur this evening when the non-union workmen leave the works.

THEY'LL FIGHT SALOONS

Managers of Robison Park Wage War on Gearry,

Who Has Established a Saloon Near Their Grounds—Arrested on Twenty Charges.

When the managers of the Fort Wayne Consolidated Electric railroad established the Robison park as a resort for the people they determined that it should be a place where no intoxicating liquors should be sold and for this reason they have refused all applications for the location of a saloon on the grounds of the park or near to it.

But where there is an opening for a saloon, some saloon man will try to creep in, notwithstanding the opposition, and so about a month ago Edward Geary, who formerly ran a saloon on Griffith street, went to work and put up a building northeast of Robison park, and about one mile from it, and opened a saloon, where he has since been dealing out intoxicants to all the park visitors and others who call on him.

The street railroad company has been opposing him and this morning they caused to be filed five affidavits against him, for selling liquor without a licenses, selling liquor on Sunday and selling liquor on the Fourth of July. The affidavits were sworn to by two of the employes of the company, Frank E Scatterday and William Dewland. Warrants were issued and placed in the hands of Constable Roembke, who will make the arrest, and Geary will have a hearing before Justice Harry F. France.

Five affidavits were also filed in the court of Justice Bullerman against Geary for selling on Sunday, five in Justice Huser's court and five in Justice Taney's court, making twenty affidavits in all against him It is the determination of the park managers to prosecute Geary until he gives up his business and also to serve others who seek to sell liquors in the vicinity of the park in the same way.

Sixth Anniversary of His Pastorate Celebrated.

On Monday evening, the members and friends of Plymouth church were given an elegant reception in recognition of the sixth anniversary of their pastor's coming to this city. The spacious social rooms of the church were beautifully decorated for the occasion by the ladies, and besides the pleasing music of the Star Mandolin orchestra, Messrs Curdes and Griffith sang a duet, Mr. Griffith a solo and Mrs. Frank Culbertson gave a piano solo. Rev. E E Frame brought a felicitous message from the South church, which is a filial daughter of Plymouth; Rev. P. J. Rice brought congratulations from the other churches of the city, noting especially the business success of the new church enterprise, the steady and remarkable growth of the church membership from less than one hundred six years ago, to nearly four hundred at present, and also noting the power of the church in the city for good. President George Hindley, of Ridgeville college, was present, and in a message both humorous and forcible, spoke of how the success of the Fort Wayne church, in the last six years, had been an inspiration to the whole family of Congregational churches in the state. The pastor, Rev. J. S. Ainslie, dwelt upon the work of the church, showing how from year to year there has been a growing momentum of power in the various departments and how the gain of the sixth year has surpassed any preceding year.

After the exercises, refreshments were served in the large dining hall and the remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse. Mr. Ainslie will preach next Sunday, both morning and evening, and then will go east for his vacation. He will first go to Boston in the interest of Ridgeville college and spend August with friends at Ithaca N. Y.

FAMOUS UNION SPY DEAD.

James H. Sherman, One of McDowell's Guides, Passes Away.

CHARLOTTE, Mich, July 15.—James Hervey Sherman, who was a spy in the union army, died at his home near this city a few days ago He was a New Yorker by birth, but, attaining manhood, he removed to Virginia, where he accumulated a large fortune, which was afterward entirely swept away by the war. Mr. Sherman was loyal to the union cause, and on account of his accurate knowledge of the country he became a guide to McDowell's division of the Army of the Potomac, and afterward entered the secret service under General Baker, of whom he was a trusted lieutenant in many expeditions and became his friend. During one of these trips near his old home his presence was betrayed by an old neighbor, and Sherman was captured by Mosby's men and was reported hanged. Instead of being executed he was taken to Richmond. He was confined ten months in Castle Thunder, and after thirteen months more at the Salisbury, N. C, prison, he effected his escape and reported to his chief for duty, continuing in that service until the close of the war. He was seventy-six years old and leaves a widow and four children.

IS WITH HIS PARTY.

Our Congressional Candidate on the Silver Issue.

He Stands Squarely on the State and National Platforms — Gives Expression to His Views.

Mr. Robinson has just returned from Chicago, where he had been in attendance upon the democratic national convention, and in reply to a question from a Journal representative as to how the handling of the money question in the platform suited him, he said:

"In my speech accepting the congressional nomination I said that I placed my confidence in the decision of our state and national conventions, representing as they would all parts of the country, bringing together the feelings and views of all and comparing and weighing the local information from every quarter and having a full view of the whole ground. I felt they would give us a platform on which we might rest with confidence that it would protect the rank and file of the people. I have heretofore been quoted through the press as being in favor of the silver issue, notably in the correspondence of the Washington representatives of the Indianapolis News and the Cincinnati Enquirer, which articles were reprinted in our district papers. These expressions voiced my sentiments. I believed that a candidate singularly favored by a unanimous nomination could well wait until his united party in convention assembled agreed upon a policy, and then in common with democrats loyally support its principles so declared."

"Do you think the silver sentiment is growing"

"It certainly is. In all the campaigns since and including 1832 in which I have participated we heard from democratic newspapers and from the stump of the crime of 1873, the demonitization of silver. This was an issue repeatedly urged and it met an approval on the part of voters.

"It is no surprise that with the public utterances of Sherman, Lincoln, Blaine and a host of other republican statesmen and the universal democratic authority on the disastrous effect of lessening the volume of standard money, coupled with the wide spread disastors that are largely attributable to the demonitization of silver—it is no wonder that those who are so seriously affected should insist on the restoration of silver to its former place in our monetary system.

"I believe the people at the polls will endorse the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation, and the demand that the standard silver dollar shall be a full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts, public and private, and such legislation as will prevent the demonetization of any kind of legal tender money by private contract.

"I shall work in the campaign as I always have for the success of those principles declared by our party in their conventions, and I think without disparagement to any state or national candidate that our party was singularly fortunate in the selection of such standard bearers as Benjamin F. Shively and William J. Bryan."

NEW SUPERINTENDENT.

A Strong School Man, Endorsed by Prominent Educators of the State.

The board of school trustees this afternoon announce the name of the new superintendent. He is Justin N. Study, at present superintendent of the public schools at Richmond, Ind.

Mr. Study accepted the position yesterday, after securing from the board at Richmond his release, and will be in the city on Friday for the purpose of making final arrangements with the board and canvassing the subject of the work to be performed. Mr. Study was not a candidate for the place, and was considered by the board upon the earnest recommendation of Dr. J. H. Smart, president of Purdue university and other educators of great prominence.

He has been twelve years at Richmond, three years at Greencastle, and ten years at Anderson, and is recognized as one of the strongest school men in the west, bringing to his new position the ripe experience of years of successful labor. He is in the prime of life, a pleasant gentleman to meet and will be deservedly popular with the patrons of the schools, the teachers, scholars and the public at large.

The board had received a large number of applications, but the importance of the position made it necessary that no undue haste be used in making the selection.

A telegram from Richmond says: "Supt Justin N. Study, of the Richmond city schools, has resigned to accept the superintendency of the schools at Fort Wayne Mr. Study has had charge of the schools here for twelve years and has raised them to a standing second to none in the state, with the possible exception of those of Indianapolis. Before coming here he was connected with the schools of Greencastle and Anderson."

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Lutheran church at New Haven.

Word was received in the city last night of the fatal scalding of Gerald the two year old son of Joseph Smith who resides in Lafayette township.

Mrs. Smith was doing the family washing yesterday and had left a tub of scalding water on the kitchen floor while she went in the yard to hang out the clothes. Little Gerard, while engaged in innocent play with a pet dog toddled too near the tub and fell backward into it. The screams of the child attracted Mrs. Smith and her husband who did all in their power to save the life, but unsuccessfully, for the little one passed away a few hours afterward, suffering fearful agony to the last. Mr and Mrs. Smith have widespread sympathy in their awful bereavement.

THE city school board have selected a new superintendent for our public schools, Mr. Justin N. Study, of Richmond, who is said to be highly equipped in every way for the duties of the position. His name, Study, is suggestive and ought to be an inspiration to every pupil in our schools.

OUR candidate for congress, Mr. James M. Robinson, in an interview, declares himself for the free coinage of silver. He is with his party on the money question, as expressed in the state and national platforms.

THE DAILY ARGUS at Laporte made its first appearance last Saturday. It is an eight column folio, and bears evidence of having come to stay. The Wadsworth company are the publishers of this new candidate for popular favor.

THE mix-up in the political situation is curiously illustrated in Michigan. The Detroit Tribune, the leading republican paper of the state, has bolted the St. Louis platform and is supporting the free silver candidates, while the leading democratic paper, the Free Press, bolts the Chicago platform and supports McKinley.

THIS is a great year for bolting. Every national convention thus far held has witnessed its secession. The fashion started with our prohibition friends, who split upon the silver proposition. This was followed by the bolt at St Louis, and then came the divide which took place in the democratic convention at Chicago.

DR JOHN S. IRWIN, who, with the end of the last school year, closed his services as superintendent of the public schools of this city, has filled that position efficiently for a number of years and in retiring carries with him the esteem of all our citizens. Under his superintendency the schools of our city have made marked progress and it is generally considered that Fort Wayne stands at the head of the list in the efficiency of her free schools. Much of this is due to Dr. Irwin, who was always active in advancing its interests.

OUR editorial friend, Mr. Frank J. Zimmerman, who for a long time has been publishing the Weekly Union at Warsaw, has again launched a daily at that place called the Warsaw Evening Herald. It is a seven column folio and warmly supports the nomination of Bryan and Sewall. Mr. Zimmerman is a trained and able newspaper man and THE SENTINEL wishes him success in his daily venture.

THE nomination of the Hon. Arthur Sewall, of Maine, as the running mate of William J. Bryan, did more than refute the charge of sectionalism urged against the Chicago convention. Mr. Sewall is a man of extensive affairs, aside from his large shipbuilding interests. He is the president and principal owner of the Bank of Bath, and there is hardly a corporation in his native county, whether bank, factory or railroad, in which he is not a director. The brief biographical sketches in the newspapers tell us that in politics Mr. Sewall has been a life-long democrat. He was an original Cleveland man and followed the career of the Buffalo statesman until about two years ago. Ever since the greenback victory which swept Maine in 1880 Mr. Sewall has been a close student of the financial question and this has crystalized in him to a thorough belief in bimetallism and the free coinage of both silver and gold.

IN the conditions and circumstances which attended the nomination of Wm. J. Bryan in the Chicago convention the other day every casual observer has noticed the parallel to that dramatic incident which, sixteen years ago, in the same city, resulted in the nomination of James A. Garfield as the candidate of the republican party for president. Then, as in the recent case, it was the eloquence of the man, as disclosed in a convention speech, that turned the tide in his favor, and then, as in the recent case, the episode was attended by the most extraordinary exhibition of enthusiasm. There were some important differences in the conditions, it is true, but they only make the similarity more marked. Garfield's speech was made in the interest of a man and Bryan's in support of a principle. In one the inspiring influence of friendship and loyalty was presumably the force that put eloquence on the tongue, and in the other that even more potential agency—devotion to a cause—was the dominant spirit. Garfield's speech was probably the more profound; Bryan's the more magnetic. But they were alike masterful specimens of oratorical fire and force, and each brought the answer.

In Place of the Saloon.

As a matter of curiosity, if nothing else, a Harvard professor's views on the beer saloon are worth reading. These are to be found in Professor Peabody's "Substitutes For the Saloon."

The learned gentleman is of opinion that the saloon flourishes not so much because of the poor man's love of drink as because of his love of sociability, and in this he is no doubt right. The professor repeats, what has often been said before, that the drinking saloon is the poor man's club. In it he finds light, merriment, games and newspapers. A place therefore that would combine the social features without the intoxicating drink feature would constitute the model substitute for the saloon. This is true; still it would not stop the evil caused by too much beer drinking. It is in deluging himself with sour, swill-like, cheap beer, "rushing the growler," as it is called, in the daytime, during rests in his working hours, that a good part of the laboring man's wages is spent. Professor Peabody would have to find a substitute for either this beer or the appetite that craves it if he would save the poor man's money. Perhaps if the poor man had more nourishing and palatable food for luncheon it would go far to stop the beer guzzling through the day.

The professor is of opinion that if somebody could invent an attractive drink that would not be intoxicating and if the poor man's social instinct could be satisfied at the same time without the accompaniment of intoxicating drinks, a long step forward in human progress would be made. The best social substitute for the saloon would be a poor man's club, where he could have games, reading, attractive environments, harmless drinks, etc. Attempts to provide such substitutes will be failures in every case if the poor man thinks there is any tang of religion or charity about them.

Exercise For Middle Aged People.

There are no old people now except those who voluntarily slump down and take a lazy satisfaction in saying they can no longer exert themselves as they did 20 years ago. They say so because they do not want to exert themselves. The most that the spry, up to date person past his youth will confess is that he is perhaps—well—getting along to be a little middle aged.

One priceless piece of knowledge this blessed last quarter of the nineteenth century has brought to the people who are perhaps getting along to be a little middle aged is that they actually need more physical exercise than young people do. Unless they take it and keep it up year after year they find themselves becoming fat and heavy and lumbering and stiff in the joints. They are less inclined than they were to walk and run and skip about. Yet giving up to this insidiously creeping laziness, for it is nothing else, is exactly what makes them become old, useless and decrepit.

Expressly for these persons who feel themselves slow and stiff and heavy a merciful providence seems to have permitted to be designed the bicycle. It limbers the joints and takes off the cumbersome fat as nothing else will. It makes the brain clear, the eye and the hand strong and steady and keeps the heart forever young. After one learns to control it there is not so much danger in riding it as there is in riding in a carriage. The bicycle is a horse that never scares and hardly ever runs away.

Finally no man or woman alive is too old to learn to ride the bicycle.

AN EASY WINNER.

First Season of Inter-State League Now Closed.

Fort Wayne Gets Honors of First Place —Second Season Opens Tomorrow.

The first season of the Inter state league closed yesterday, with Fort Wayne an easy winner. The standing of the clubs at the wind up is as follows:

	Played.	Won.	Lost	Per ct.
Fort Wayne	70	43	17	.717
Toledo	67	39	28	.582
Wheeling	65	34	29	.541
Jackson	62	33	29	.532
New Castle	60	29	27	.483
Saginaw	56	27	29	.465
Youngstown	55	26	29	.345
Washington	58	18	44	.310

The second season will open tomorrow, and it is not likely that Fort Wayne will have a walk away. The leaders have made a poor record the past few weeks, and were it not for the tremendous lead they made during the early part of the season, it would not have been so easy to retain first place. The seven other clubs, in the meantime, have built up their weak fences and are in better shape than they were in the start. It is to be hoped that Fort Wayne will use some good judgment now and hold her good name.

Barton, who reviews the situation carefully in the Wheeling News, states that when the season opened many of the teams were thrown together in a hurry. Much of the material was raw and untried. It took weeks to find out the weak spots and strengthen accordingly. This was the case with nearly every club except Fort Wayne and Wheeling. In the former case Tebeau's experience aided wonderfully in selecting men who were ready to get in harness at once. The Farmers thus got a long lead which the other teams were not able to overcome. Wheeling would have given them a tougher argument, but the gold bricks the managers had gotten in the way of pitchers proved a fatal weakness.

In the second season, at the first glance, it seems as if at least four clubs have equal chances of winning. Wheeling, Fort Wayne, New Castle and Toledo. It is almost an even thing with all these clubs. So far as you can estimate chances in base ball it is an even thing. The game these teams have been putting up in the last few days is proof of that. Last week Toledo lowered the Fort Wayne colors in great shape and Jackson gave them the same dose.

A point that makes it look favorable for these clubs is their strength in the pitching department. Fort Wayne always has been strong, although Swain and Carrick show signs of weakening Toledo has an assortment in Keenan, Kelb, Van Geisen and Coyle that is hard to beat, while New Castle's Hickman, Hewitt and Farmer Brown, with Daniels to fall back on, make that team very formidable.

There does not appear to be much hope for the rest of the teams. Jackson would be as strong as any, but it is weak on the rubber, the same point that cost Wheeling the first pennant. With two or three good pitchers Jackson could take a position among the probable winners. Until then, however, it will be a case of "also ran." Washington has no show with its present team. Although always dangerous, the Millionaires are not of the sort that win pennants. None of their pitchers are men who can be relied upon, while the team is weak in other places. Saginaw and Youngstown are something of an enigma. It is reported that they are considerably strengthened and there are many new faces on the teams, but still more missionary work will have to be done to get them to the required standard.

Wheeling has now a stronger team than it has had since the opening of base ball here. The weakness in the pitching department has been remedied. Instead of being weak there the team is now abnormally strong. It has seven good men and the chief difficulty will be in selecting what ones to release. Borchers, Campbell, Garvey and Baker will probably be the men to stay. In all other positions the team could not be improved. It is strong everywhere, in the field and at the bat.

One of the most gratifying features of the Interstate league is its stability. There is not a minor league in the country that is more solid or as well fixed financially. The Texas league has fallen, the Atlantic association has been reorganized, transfers have been made in the Eastern league, the Western association has been disbanded together with other small organizations Of the entire lot the Interstate and the Western leagues are the only ones that remain intact; the only ones with the same clubs that they started the season with. Reports from all the towns are favorable. In each active preparations are being made for the opening of the second season which is ample proof that all intend to stick.

The most troublesome question that Interstate magnates have to deal with is the umpire troubles. The two good ones are sick and a number of unsatisfactory amateurs are cavorting around in their places. It is not President Power's fault that such is the case. Good umpires are scarcer than the proverbial hen teeth. No matter what the umpires are, however, such conduct as that of New Castle's on Thursday should be condemned in the severest terms.

STATE LEAGUE A GO.

Although late in the season it seems that the state league is to be a go, as the following towns have signified their willingness to enter into such a compact: Logansport, Kokomo, Elwood, Anderson, Connersville and Rushville. The question has been agitated throughout this district of the state since the beginning of the season, and now it appears just to be reaching crystalization.

JACK TAR'S FRIEND.

SAMUEL PLIMSOLL, WHO WANTS US TO LOVE ENGLAND.

He Is Going to Edit American School Histories and Wipe Out an Inherited Race Prejudice—Why All British Sailors Love Him.

Samuel Plimsoll, who has come over here from England to find out why Americans do not love the "mother country" better, is a genial, earnest, kindly old gentleman whose name is dear to every British tar afloat, and who is universally known as "the sailors' friend." He has already won undying fame by giving to the safety load line on British ships the name of the Plimsoll mark, but now, at the age of 70, he begins a new crusade with as much vigor as when he roused the British public to the woes of "poor Jack" more than a quarter of a century ago.

Mr. Plimsoll is a man of original ideas, and not the least interesting of his arguments in favor of his proposal for international unity is the somewhat startling statement that American enmity to England is responsible for the Armenian outrages. He explains this by declaring that, if it had not been for the threatening attitude of the United States over the Venezuelan difficulty, England would have pitched in, despite the frowns of Russia, and disciplined the Turk.

Most of Mr. Plimsoll's arguments, however, are more plausible than this. He thinks our school histories are at the bottom of the trouble, and he proposes to edit these for us. The first thing he did after arriving in New York the other day was to get a lot of textbook histories that are used in American schools. He wanted to compare the American accounts of the Revolution with those printed in British schoolbooks. When this work is done, Mr. Plimsoll will make a tour through the country and will try to arouse sympathy and enthusiasm for his project.

If all Englishmen were like Samuel Plimsoll, he would have not the slightest difficulty in achieving his object, and if all Americans were as good as he this would be a great and glorious nation. A great, big heart has Mr. Plimsoll—a heart that beats for all humanity. You know this as soon as you have seen the kindly, benevolent way in which he beams through his glasses at all the world.

More than 30 years ago he began his agitation on behalf of the British sailor, and in that time he has been instrumental in saving many thousands of lives. Being Bristol born, he was brought up among seafaring men and was familiar with all the hardships and injustices to which they were subject. In the autumn of 1863 he was a passenger on a coasting steamer during a terrific storm. Next morning he saw the coast from Flamborough Head to the Tees strewn with wrecks. He was so impressed with the awful loss of life and the knowledge that many of the wrecked vessels were known among the sailors as "coffin ships," from the fact that they were rotten old hulks which had been sent out under heavy insurance by their owners in the expectation that they would not get back, such a fate, that then and there he determined to devote his time and abilities to the prevention of these human sacrifices on the altar of greed.

He visited many British seaports and found that, while the majority of ship owners were quite anxious to co-operate with him, there existed among them a class of "ghouls," as they were called, who actually made money by sending worthless vessels to sea.

In 1865 he stood for parliament, but was defeated by a small majority. Three years later he was triumphant and held his seat from that time until 1890, when he resigned in order to further the cause. In 1875 Mr. Plimsoll introduced his famous bill to prevent the overloading of vessels. The government, under the lead of Lord Beaconsfield then plain Benjamin Disraeli, at first seemed desirous of advancing the bill, but as the session drew to a close Mr. Disraeli calmly announced one night that it must be dropped.

Springing to his feet and quivering with emotion, Samuel Plimsoll faced the house of commons alone, and shaking his fist at the government and the opposition alike he dared them to adjourn before they had passed that bill for the protection of the lives of seamen.

Commons was shocked. The speaker sat speechless with amazement. The crowded galleries were awed into silence. It was a moment or two before there were loud cries of "Order!" "Order!" and then the speaker commanded the member from Derby to retire. Mr. Plimsoll did retire, but in a few hours the British workingmen were reading an account of that dramatic incident and an appeal from Mr. Plimsoll.

The country was aroused as if by magic. Mass meetings were held everywhere, and a fund of over $75,000 was raised to continue the campaign in the interests of protection to sailors. Disraeli's government beat before the rising storm, and a partial measure of relief was hurriedly passed. Since that there has been other legislation on behalf of Jack, and most of it has been the result of Mr. Plimsoll's untiring efforts.

Mr. Plimsoll once before visited this country on a mission, although he was not very successful. It was in the winter of 1890-1. He came over then to get material for his crusade against the overcrowding of cattleships and the consequent cruelty to the animals as well as the danger to the sailors. He tried to induce the Canadian shippers of live stock to do their slaughtering on this side instead of sending their cattle over alive. Some good resulted from his agitation, but the practice was not stopped by any means. Now, though his hair is white with age and his eyes are rather dim, he has undertaken the task of wiping out an inherited race prejudice and of uniting by bonds of brotherly love two of the greatest nations in the world.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies then not needed. If afflicted with actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

With ghoulish glee and loudly buzzing wing,
He comes to me—the pesky little thing;

And does a song and dance in style elate
Until in rage I fiercely rise
To crush the thing before my glowering eyes.

I raise my hand with firm determination,
I strike—bent, bent upon extermination.
I miss him! seek my chair a reeling,
While he, gently buzzes to the ceiling.

Machinist Mills Celebrates His Temperance Anniversary.

Philip Gable Injured—A Wonderful Engine—Personal and Local Gossip.

Thomas Mills, the well known Wabash machinist, is today quietly observing the nineteenth anniversary of his reformation. July 15, 1877, Mr. Mills, who was then addicted to the excessive use of intoxicating drinks, signed the Murphy temperance pledge and since that day has faithfully adhered to the obligations set forth in the little card upon which he then placed his signature. The reformation was regarded as one of the most notable events of the Murphy movement in Fort Wayne, and it restored to respectable manhood a man whom his family and friends feared was beyond all hope of redemption.

AN ENGINE BUILT FOR SPEED.

George F. Wilson, superintendent of motive power of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, has just built on his own designs at the company's shops a very fast passenger engine. The total weight of the locomotive is 125,000 pounds, of which 83,000 pounds is on the drivers. The driving wheels are 78 inches in diameter, being the largest on any locomotive running out of Chicago, except No 590, on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, whose drivers are 84½ inches. The wheel centers are cast steel, and the journals of driving axles 9x12 inches. The cylinders are 19½x26 inches. The firebox is of the deep, narrow type, with a length of 108 inches, a width of 32½ inches, a depth front of 79½ inches, back 68½ inches, and it has a heating surface of 194 3 square feet. The tubes are 290 in number and give a heating surface of 1,795 square feet, the total heating surface being 1,888 3 square feet. The grate area is 24 5 square feet. The working steam pressure is 190 pounds per square inch. The tender is of exceptionally large capacity, the tank holding 4,000 gallons of water, and the coal space being for 9 tons.

SHOPMAN INJURED.

Philip Gable, who has charge of a finishing room in the foundry department of the Bass works, was injured this morning in a manner which may lay him up for some days. He was handling a "chill," a heavy piece of perhaps 600 pounds, which is used in moulding car wheels, when it slipped off the bed of a machine and the sharp edge struck and cut a long gash across Mr Gable's right leg, about two inches above the knee. The injury is a very painful one.

CUTICURA REMEDIES

Great Change in Five Days and To-day is Entirely Cured.

My baby had Eczema in its worst form. One of the best physicians in the city attended her, but she continued to get worse all the time. He finally admitted he was at his wits' end. I then got CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in a few days noticed a great change in her condition. She continued to improve and to-day is entirely cured, has nice head of hair, and is lively and hearty. I spent considerable money for drugs and doctor's bills, which was useless.

Yesterday was the twenty-first anniversary of the birth of Miss Mamie Riemann, of 31 Maumee avenue, and to make the birthday memorable her friends planned and carried out a neat little surprise party. Logeman's orchestra was present and furnished the music for a dance program which was not ended until after 2 o'clock this morning. Supper was served at 11 and ice cream and cake were served later. The participants were Misses Lizzie Tremmel, Lizzie Bequett, Emma and Laura Metker, Gusta Zerrull, Mary Falvey, Anna Neher, Lizzie Riemann and Rose Bode, Messrs. John Tremmel, John Meyers, Joseph Metker, Charles Shafer, Joseph Ostbol, Peter Roth, Gus and Barney Riemann. Miss Riemann was also the recipient of some handsome presents.

George Dresch, of Goshen, Ind., and Miss Maggie Hess, of this city, were united in marriage last evening at Trinity M E parsonage, Rev. Edmund F. Albertson officiating. Mr. Dresch is well and favorably known in Goshen, where he has a host of friends. The bride is an estimable lady of culture and refinement. The friends who offer congratulations are numerous. HOT WEATHER DYSPEPSIA.

Hot weather dyspepsia may be recognized by the following symptoms: Depression of spirits, heaviness and pain in the stomach after meals, loss of flesh and appetite, no desire for food, bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, wind in stomach and bowels, irritable disposition, nervous weakness, weariness, costiveness, headache, palpitation, heartburn. It is a mistake to treat such troubles with "tonics," "blood purifiers," "cathartics," "pills," because the whole trouble is in the stomach. It is indigestion or dyspepsia and nothing else.

All these symptoms rapidly disappear when the stomach is relieved, strengthened, and cleansed by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They should be taken after meals and a few carried in the pocket to be used whenever any pain or distress is felt in the stomach. They are prepared only for stomach troubles.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are endorsed by such physicians as Dr. Harlandson, Dr. Jennison, and Dr. Mayer, because they contain the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which when taken into the stomach cause the prompt digestion of the food before it has time to ferment and sour, which is the cause of the mischief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are pleasant to take and unequaled for invalids, children and every person afflicted with imperfect digestion. It is safe to say they will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Nearly all the druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages at 50 cents. A book on stomach troubles and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Christian Pfeiffer, of Buffalo, N. Y., with his two daughters, is here, the guest of his son, Joseph, living north of the city. About a year ago, as Mr. Pfeiffer was alighting from a Nickel Plate train at the passenger depot in this city, he fell under the moving train and sustained injuries to his left leg of so serious a nature that Dr. Schrader found it necessary to amputate the limb.

HER KISS, THEN DEATH.

Lightning Struck Valente Down at His Sweetheart's Feet.

A KISS, THEN DEATH.

Valente was sent swiftly to eternity in suburban New York last Sunday. The girl had scarce given him the caress when a bolt of lightning robbed her of her betrothed and threw her headlong across his lifeless body. A few hours before the two had become reconciled after months of separation, and they had gone out on a lovely country road to celebrate their reunion. The lover lay that night a corpse in the basement of the Kingsbridge police station. The young woman was in Fordham hospital paralyzed and suffering the greatest mental anguish. Valente was thirty-three years old, a tall, fine-looking fellow, with the darkest of hair and eyes and mustache. He was an overseer in the street cleaning department, New York city. The girl who was with him at his death was Louise Costella. She is only twenty years old, a very pretty and attractive young woman, a native of Italy, as was her lover. She earned a living by making cigars. Valente and Miss Costella became engaged about a year ago. They quarrelled four months ago, and so serious appeared the difference that they did not speak. Both were at early mass at the church in East Seventeenth street Sunday morning. So were several of their friends, who had planned to bring the angry lovers together. They succeeded. The two were brought face to face after mass, and then the young man escorted his regained sweetheart home.

Saved by a Brave Girl.

Miss Mamie Yaples, daughter of a farmer living near Ellenville, N. Y., distinguished herself by stopping a runaway horse and rescuing two children. Mrs. Joseph Hood, accompanied by her two daughters, were driving down a hill when the harness broke, frightening the horse and causing it to run wildly for nearly a mile. Mrs. Hood dropped the reins and clung to her children, screaming for help. Miss Yaples, who is an equestrienne, was riding near her home when she saw the peril of mother and her children. Urging her own steed forward the brave girl soon intercepted the runaway horse, and seizing it by the bridle, saved Mrs. Hood and children, who were too weak to stand when taken from the wagon.

Death of Princess Angeline.

Princess Angeline, daughter of Chief Seattle, after whom the city of Seattle, Wash., was named, died the other day of pneumonia. People try to make her out over 100 years old, but this is an error, for the best posted people say she is not over 80. Romancers have given the public to understand she made a trip through the woods to save the town from an attack by Indians. This also deserves to rank with fairy stories.

Eloped on a Tandem.

Lewis Barney, a farmer of Narrowsburg, N. Y., recently purchased a bicycle for his daughter, Susie, contrary to his wife's wishes. The young woman and Mr. Frank Webb, her affianced, had planned an elopement for Sunday afternoon, but Mrs. Barney had secreted her daughter's wheel during the forenoon and refused to produce it. When informed of what had occurred young Webb determined to overcome all obstacles, and that evening appeared with a tandem at a neighbor's, where Miss Barney was calling, and after a ride of three miles they were married Mr. and Mrs. Webb then rode back to the Barney homestead and were forgiven.

"The Nearer the Bone, the Sweeter the Meat"

The maker of merchandise has reached the end of his Summer "tether."

His season is about over: yours has just begun.

He's anxious to sell what is left of his made up product at almost any reasonable sacrifice.

We're watching your interests in this matter, and as a result have made purchases that will surprise you by their price cheapness.

Makers of Shirt Waists

Are straining every nerve to get rid of the balance of their season's product. It's a last chance for the consumer to buy these dainty Summer garments at a big drop from early season's prices. At least we thought so when we cornered those lots. It's a case of quick sale, and first come, first served.

Hard Times Continue.

But we Find a Way to keep Things Moving.

In June of this year our sales exceeded the same month of 1895 by 45 per cent., and the same month of 1894 by 72 1-2 per cent.

We doubt if there are a dozen firms in the West which can show such an extraordinary increase in sales under such a discouraging condition of retail trade.

But the recent enlargement of our already very extensive salesrooms—our increase in stock, especially in fine and very fine goods and our cut in prices to about one half the profits of former times, has given us a patronage altogether beyond anything we have ever enjoyed.

"Good Times Are Coming,"

And when they arrive we propose to be occupying a front seat in the business "Hand Wagon."

CAN THE BLIND SEE?

Can the eyesight be preserved? Can imperfect vision be restored? Can the need enjoy reading as the young? Can science assist you? These are important questions. Remember that eyesight is priceless and that sight once lost can never be restored. Persons will buy a pair of cheap, imperfect spectacles, thinking it economy, not knowing that they are doing themselves irreparable injury until it is too late. The popular opinion that the cure of places should be postponed as long as possible is erroneous.

As soon as you find your sight failing, go at once to an eye specialist and have your eyes tested and glasses properly fitted.

THREE CONVENTIONS

South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa.

The Two Former Favor Bryan, the Latter McKinley.

A Plan by Which the Populists Hope to Capture a State and Help the Democracy Also.

HURON, S. D., July 15.—The platform was not presented to the populists state convention until after 11 o'clock last night. It declares that all land now held and unused by railroads not in actual use should be reclaimed by the government and sold to actual settlers; also, the government ownership of sufficient railroad mileage to control transportation.

It also declares for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1. It declares for postal savings banks, demands direct legislation and the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people. It also declares for more money, to increase prices and legislation to maintain them. The platform denounces the present state administration. It declares for the Iowa railroad law, known as the Wheeler bill; endorses Senator Kyle, commends Senator Pettigrew and his colleagues and instructs its electors to vote for a free silver president. The delegates to the St. Louis convention are instructed to work with the silverites, and W. J. Bryan is suggested as the most available candidated. The platform also declares that prohibition should be voted on regardless of party affiliations. A minority report recommending state control of the liquor traffic was defeated. The populists' committee conceded to the silverites one of the railroad commissioners. To the silver democrats they have conceded four electors.

At 1 o'clock this morning, after a warfare of words over endorsing Bryan, occupying two hours, the question was brought to a vote, resulting in a vote of two to one in favor of the endorsement. Adjourned till today.

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 15.—For the first time in many years the republican state convention today met with rainy weather. The dampness, however, appeared to have little effect on the assembled politicians, who were out early in large numbers. Caucuses were held in nine of the eleven congressional districts and members of the usual committees were named. A general belief prevailed that the main fight will be over railroad commissioner and secretary of state. The platform declares warmly in support of the St. Louis platform and says the party in Iowa is in line with the national party. The history of the past is reviewed and the party is complimented all through. Rollin J. Wilson, who was selected as temporary chairman, was prostrated by the heat yesterday and was unable to preside. Congressman Hepburn was selected to fill the place. He made a strong speech in line with the platform. State Auditor McCarthy, Treasurer Herritt and Attorney General Remley will be renominated by acclamation.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 15.—The populist state convention to select delegates to the national convention at St. Louis convened at 11 a. m. amid great enthusiasm. Bryan men were in the majority on all sides. Four hundred delegates composed the convention, not a full representation. Temporary Chairman Elder presided. The name of Bryan as the only feasible candidate for president, is every where heard. The way of getting at the nomination or endorsement is the only bone of contention. Only one delegate has made himself known who opposes Bryan and he is from Omaha, Dan Burr. A Bryan delegation and none other will be sent to St. Louis. The Bryan enthusiasts have no fear whatever over the outcome.

Senator Allen and Governor Holcomb are mentioned as certain to head the delegation. The slate at present is this: Bryan is to receive the unqualified endorsement of the convention and in return the democrats of the state, whose organization is wholly controlled by the Bryan element, will put no state ticket in the field, but will endorse the populist nominee. This scheme worked two years ago when Governor Holcomb was nominated and Bryan has the prestige of having arranged that plan of fusion.

FATALLY BURNED.

Pearl Sheppard's Clothing Ignited Accidentally in a Buggy.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., July 15.—Miss Pearl Sheppard, living at Everton, Fayette county, was almost burned to death while riding in a buggy with her brother, George. He had lighted a cigar, and threw a match in the buggy, which ignited his sister's clothing. He quickly lifted her from the vehicle, and, by tearing her clothes off and then wrapping her in his coat, he extinguished the fire, but not until the sister was fatally burned.

To Work for Gold.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 15.—J. Edward Addicks, the gas king of Delaware, is to head the corporation to work for gold in the gravel beds of the Caribou. The company which has been incorporated under the name of the British Northwest Gold Manufacturing company, limited, has a capital stock of $5,000,000, and will operate on the Fiebla.b property on the Quesnelle, well known as the most important gold bearing tributary of the Fraser river. In this tract are seven hundred acres, with an average depth to bed rock of 275 feet, all of which it is estimated will pay at least twelve and a half cents per cubic yard.

CALL ON THE MAJOR.

Five Hundred Cleveland Ladies at Canton.

CANTON, Ohio, July 15.—Despite a blinding rain storm, 500 representative women of Cleveland came to Canton this morning, arriving here at 11.45. They were headed by a splendid woman's brass band and were met by a committee of Canton women. Fortunately, as their train reached Canton the sun broke through the clouds and forming in columns of two, they marched to the McKinley home. There thousands of people blocked the streets and surged through the grounds in great confusion. When quiet was restored Mrs. Elroy M. Avery, in a very eloquent address, congratulated Major McKinley in behalf of the ladies of Cleveland upon receiving the republican nomination. Governor McKinley, as he mounted a chair on his veranda, after the enthusiasm of waving handkerchiefs and parasols and hand clapping, said:

"I greatly appreciate this friendly call from the women of the city of Cleveland and assure you that I do not undervalue their gracious message of congratulation and confidence which you have so eloquently delivered."

THE TURF.

Grand Circuit Meeting at Saginaw, Mich.

SAGINAW, Mich., July 15.—The grand circuit races opened at Union park yesterday with about 2,000 people in attendance. The contests were exciting, with betting free on the field. Maxim was the only favorite to win. In the 2:16 class trotting race Sunland Clay was picked a favorite, but came in sixth place in the first heat and Baker, a Saginaw horse, won the race in three straight heats. Summaries:

2:28 class, trotting, Saginaw Valley stake, $1,000—Baraetta, first; Valence, second; Paukett, third; Margaretta, fourth. Time—2:22. Jack Dawson, Miss Sphinx, Zasil Wilkes, Porter and Kathleen also ran.

2:16 class, pacing, purse $600—Maxim, first; Nicol B., second; Bessie B., third; Sally Bronston, fourth. Time—2:13¼. Marietta Wilkes, Idol Jack, Syreus, May Murphey and Sandy Boy also ran.

2:16 class, trotting, purse $600—Baker, first; Sunland Clay, second; Prince B., third; Bryson, fourth. Time—2:14¼. Beaucra, Combine, Lottie Franklin, Atlantis and Maggie also ran.

An Epidemic of Diphtheria.

VALPARAISO, Ind., July 14.—The residents of Hebron, this county, are much excited over a threatened epidemic of diphtheria. Schools, churches and public meetings have been discontinued by the county board of health. Two children of Frank Russell are dead, and five oth members of the family are lying a point of death. Six other cases are reported. Many of the school children have been exposed.

Cornelius Vanderbilt.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The condition of Cornelius Vadderbilt, sr., who was stricken with paralysis yesterday, was this morning reported to be slightly improved, although still sufficiently serious as to warrant the gravest apprehension. Drs. McLane, Delafield and Draper remained at the bedside of Mr. Vanderbilt throughout the night and everything known to medical science was done for the relief of the patient.

Admitting Wines Free.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—According to the report of United States Consul General Mills, at Honolulu, the Hawaiian legislature has passed an act admitting wines containing less than 18 per cent. of alcohol free of duty and increasing the duty on spiritous liquors. In consequence, California wines which have been taxed fifteen cents per gallon will escape import duties.

Prohibiting Speculations.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—At the instance of the Agrarian leaders the German reichstag has just enacted a law prohibiting speculation in options and also intended to restrict speculation in stocks. The new law, beyond doubt will affect seriously the sale of American securities in Germany aside from its effect upon the grain markets.

Silk Inspection Port.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The Japanese government has established a silk inspection port at Hsinga and a meeting of the Japanese silk manufacturers has been called at Kobe to effect the diversion to that port of silk the export trade now centered at Yokohama.

Made a Knight.

LONDON, July 15.—Sir Donald A. Smith, the Canadian statesman and capitalist, was today invested at Windsor castle as a knight commander of the order at St. Michael and St. George.

The large crowds which daily throng our store, prove how thoroughly our remodeling sale is appreciated by the public.

BUBBLED OVER

SALEM, Ill., July 15.—It is doubtful if the natives of this town ever before allowed their enthusiasm to bubble over to such an extent as it did today. The scorching July sun had scarcely appeared above the horizon when the town was shaken by a thunderous cannonading of anvils, which were fired off at regular intervals from sunrise until noon day. This discharge of blacksmiths artillery aroused the people in an unusual state of activity early in the day.

Wagons loaded with farmers from the surrounding country began to arrive almost at day light and by noon day the hitching racks around the business center of the town and all the feed yards and livery stables were crowded.

And they came in on excursion trains from neighboring towns and adjoining counties to take part in the great celebration to be given here this afternoon and evening in honor of William J. Bryan, the democratic nominee for president, who thirty-six years ago first saw the light of day in this quiet, sleepy old country town.

In response to the proclamation issued by the mayor yesterday all business houses in the city were abundantly decorated with flags and bunting and the portrait of the distinguished citizen of Salem. And nearly all the dwelling houses were decorated with patriotic emblems and flowers, and sprigs of evergreen. At the corners of all the principal streets, enterprising citizens had erected lemonade stands and ice cream booths, which luxuries they dispensed to the swallering multitude at five cents a drink and ten cents a dish. Nearly all the vehicles that run in the streets were adorned with stars and stripes and some of the more enthusiastic drivers of teams dragged out from the dust and corners of the barns, strings of sleigh bells that have hung there since the last snow melted away, and fastened them to the horses. The merry tinkle of these bells in the scorching rays of the hot July sun was a cruel reminder of the cold bracing air in which they originally were intended to be used.

The ladies of the town and the surrounding country, and there are many of them and nearly all of them are handsome, displayed their loyalty for the presidential nominee by appearing in white dresses today with red or blue sashes and white caps and over the visor of each was printed in silver letters, "William J. Bryan."

People began to gather in the court house square, where a big stand had been erected for the speakers at the celebration, fully two hours before the time for the demonstration to begin. The great elm and maple trees which surround the court house had, like the other trees of the town, been freshly whitewashed, and they were decorated in addition with bunting and flags.

It was in this court house that Mr. Bryan years ago made his first political speech, and it was in this court house that his father for twelve years presided over the circuit court. On the platform along with the speakers who had been invited from all the state to come and participate in the rejoicing of the people of Salem, were the mayor and council of the city and of other distinguished citizens. The Hon. F. Kagey, who graduated in the same class with Mr. Bryan at Illinois college, Jacksonville, presided at the meeting.

STORM SPOILS THE CELEBRATION.

While the hundreds of people who have come from all over this part of the state to attend the Bryan celebration were assembling in the court house yard today a big black cloud loomed up in the northwest. It approached with frightful rapidity. There were terrific peals of thunder and there was a scattering of people in every direction to get out of the fast approaching rain. Many of the people became panic stricken, as they still had an unpleasant recollection of the awful cyclone which passed through this region a few weeks ago when St. Louis was almost ruined. Many of the teams brought to town by the farmers became frightened and tried to break loose from the hitching racks about the square, so that for a time it looked as if a general stampede would result.

At length the rain broke and it came down in torrents. All the while there was a continuous flashing of lightning, followed by an uproarious booming of thunder. In a space of ten minutes the bunting, flags and draping of the buildings, which had looked so attractive in the morning, were bedraggled and almost ruined.

As the storm continued, the darkness increased until it was almost impossible to see across the streets, and in the houses lights became necessary. When it had rained for almost fifteen minutes the storm seemed to change its course. It swept around to the north of town, but the rain continued to fall.

In less than half an hour the storm seemed to have spent itself and it settled down for a steady rain. It was an ordinary thunder storm, but of unusual violence, and, owing to the darkness, it caused a great deal of alarm. At 12 o'clock it looked as if it would rain all the afternoon.

County Central Committeeman Samuel Smith, who has had charge of the arrangements of the celebration, said that if the rain did not stop the speeches would be made in the court house.

MORE RIOTS.

Strikers Attack Workmen at the Hoisting Works.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 15.—Further disorders occurred at the Brown Hoisting and Conveying works this morning. The strikers and their sympathizers attacked the non-union men while the latter were on their way to work. In numerous cases the non-unionists were beaten with clubs and felled to the ground. C. W. Jackson, one of the unfortunate men who was attacked by a crowd of union men, received no less than fifteen knife cuts on the face and body and had three ribs broken. For a time the police, who were greatly outnumbered by the rioters, were unable to cope with the mob. The officers on duty around the works were finally reinforced, however, and succeeded in driving the enraged strikers back and rescuing the non union men.

After the police had quelled the trouble quiet prevailed around the works. Two companies of militia have been ordered under arms, as it is believed that another outbreak will occur this evening when the non-union workmen leave the works.

THEY'LL FIGHT SALOONS

Who Has Established a Saloon Near Their Grounds—Arrested on Twenty Charges.

When the managers of the Fort Wayne Consolidated Electric railroad established the Robison park as a resort for the people they determined that it should be a place where no intoxicating liquors should be sold and for this reason they have refused all applications for the location of a saloon on the grounds of the park or near to it.

But where there is an opening for a saloon, some saloon man will try to creep in, notwithstanding the opposition, and so about a month ago Edward Geary, who formerly ran a saloon on Griffith street, went to work and put up a building northeast of Robison park, and about one mile from it, and opened a saloon, where he has since been dealing out intoxicants to all the park visitors and others who call on him.

The street railroad company has been opposing him and this morning they caused to be filed five affidavits against him, for selling liquor without a license, selling liquor on Sunday and selling liquor on the Fourth of July. The affidavits were sworn to by two of the employes of the company, Frank E. Scatterday and William Dawland. Warrants were issued and placed in the hands of Constable Roembke, who will make the arrest, and Geary will have a hearing before Justice Harry F. France.

Five affidavits were also filed in the court of Justice Bullerman against Geary for selling on Sunday, five in Justice Hunch's court and five in Justice Taney's court, making twenty affidavits in all against him. It is the determination of the park managers to prosecute Geary until he gives up his business and also to serve others who seek to sell liquors in the vicinity of the park in the same way.

REV. J. S. AINSLIE.

Sixth Anniversary of His Pastorate Celebrated.

On Monday evening the members and friends of Plymouth church were given an elegant reception in recognition of the sixth anniversary of their pastor's coming to this city. The spacious social rooms of the church were beautifully decorated for the occasion by the ladies, and besides the pleasing music of the Star Mandolin orchestra, Messrs Curdes and Griffith sang a duet, Mr. Griffith a solo and Mrs. Frank Culbertson gave a piano solo. Rev. E. E. Frame brought a felicitous message from the South church, which is a filial daughter of Plymouth; Rev. P. J. Rice brought congratulations from the other churches of the city, noting especially the business success of the new church enterprise, the steady and remarkable growth of the church membership from less than one hundred six years ago, to nearly four hundred at present, and also noting the power of the church in the city for good. President George Hindley, of Ridgeville college, was present, and in a message both humorous and forcible, spoke of how the success of the Fort Wayne church, in the last six years, had been an inspiration to the whole family of Congregational churches in the state. The pastor, Rev. J. S. Ainslie, dwelt upon the work of the church, showing how from year to year there has been a growing momentum of power in the various departments and how the gain of the sixth year has surpassed any preceding year.

After the exercises, refreshments were served in the large dining hall and the remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse. Mr. Ainslie will preach next Sunday, both morning and evening, and then will go east for his vacation. He will first go to Boston in the interest of Ridgeville college and spend August with friends at Ithaca, N. Y.

He was a New Yorker by birth, but, attaining manhood, he removed to Virginia, where he accumulated a large fortune, which was afterward entirely swept away by the war. Mr. Sherman was loyal to the union cause, and on account of his accurate knowledge of the country he became a guide to McDowell's division of the Army of the Potomac, and afterward entered the secret service under General Baker, of whom he was a trusted lieutenant in many expeditions and became his friend. During one of these trips near his old home his presence was betrayed by an old neighbor, and Sherman was captured by Mosby's men and was reported hanged. Instead of being executed he was taken to Richmond. He was confined ten months in Castle Thunder, and after thirteen months more at the Salisbury, N. C., prison, he effected his escape and reported to his chief for duty, continuing in that service until the close of the war. He was seventy-six years old and leaves a widow and four children.

IS WITH HIS PARTY.

Our Congressional Candidate on the Silver Issue.

He Stands Squarely on the State and National Platforms—Gives Expression to His Views.

Mr. Robinson has just returned from Chicago, where he had been in attendance upon the democratic national convention, and in reply to a question from a Journal representative as to how the handling of the money question in the platform suited him, he said:

"In my speech accepting the congressional nomination I said that I placed my confidence in the decision of our state and national conventions, representing as they would all parts of the country, bringing together the feelings and views of all and comparing and weighing the local information from every quarter and having a full view of the whole ground. I felt they would give us a platform on which we might rest with confidence that it would protect the rank and file of the people. I have heretofore been quoted through the press as being in favor of the silver issue, notably in the correspondence of the Washington representatives of the Indianapolis News and the Cincinnati Enquirer, which articles were reprinted in our district papers. Those expressions voiced my sentiments. I believed that a candidate's singularly favored by a unanimous nomination could well wait until his united party in convention assembled agreed upon a policy, and then in common with democrats loyally support its principles so declared."

"Do you think the silver sentiment is growing?"

"It certainly is. In all the campaigns since and including 1882 in which I have participated we heard from democratic newspapers and from the stump of the crime of 1873, the demonitization of silver. This was an issue repeatedly urged and it met an approval on the part of voters.

"It is no surprise that with the public utterances of Sherman, Lincoln, Blaine and a host of other republican statesmen and the universal democratic authority on the disastrous effect of lessening the volume of standard money, coupled with the wide spread disasters that are largely attributable to the demonitization of silver—it is no wonder that those who are so seriously affected should insist on the restoration of silver to its former place in our monetary system.

"I believe the people at the polls will endorse the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation, and the demand that the standard silver dollar shall be a full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts, public and private, and such legislation as will prevent the demonetization of any kind of legal tender money by private contract.

"I shall work in the campaign as I always have for the success of those principles declared by our party in their conventions, and I think without disparagement to any state or national candidate that our party was singularly fortunate in the selection of such standard bearers as Benjamin F. Shively and William J. Bryan."

NEW SUPERINTENDENT.

A Strong School Man, Endorsed by Prominent Educators of the State.

The board of school trustees this afternoon announce the name of the new superintendent. He is Justin N. Study, at present superintendent of the public schools at Richmond, Ind.

Mr. Study accepted the position yesterday, after securing from the board at Richmond his release, and will be in the city on Friday for the purpose of making final arrangements with the board and canvassing the subject of the work to be performed. Mr. Study was not a candidate for the place, and was considered by the board upon the earnest recommendation of Dr. J. H. Smart, president of Purdue university and other educators of great prominence.

He has been twelve years at Richmond, three years at Greencastle, and ten years at Anderson, and is recognized as one of the strongest school men in the west, bringing to his new position the ripe experience of years of successful labor. He is in the prime of life, a pleasant gentleman to meet and will be deservedly popular with the patrons of the schools, the teachers, scholars and the public at large.

The board had received a large number of applications, but the importance of the position made it necessary that no undue haste be used in making the selection.

A telegram from Richmond says: "Supt. Justin N. Study, of the Richmond city schools, has resigned to accept the superintendency of the schools at Fort Wayne. Mr. Study has had charge of the schools here for twelve years and has raised them to a standing second to none in the state, with the possible exception of those of Indianapolis. Before coming here he was connected with the schools of Greencastle and Anderson."

FATEFUL DEATH

Lays Its Hand Heavily on the Huger Family.

Father, Wife and Daughter All Pass Away Within Two Years—Other Deaths.

Died, at his home at New Haven, Henry Huger, an old resident of that town, having lived there for upwards of thirty years. Death was caused by dropsy of the heart, and the end was unexpected. He had been ailing several days, but nothing serious was anticipated, and his demise was a shock to his many friends.

Mr. Huger was sixty-four years of age. An unusually sad circumstance in connection with his death is the fact that his wife died two years ago and his daughter, who was the wife of W. B. Stocks, died last March, the entire family thus passing away inside of two years. There are no surviving relatives in this county. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Lutheran church at New Haven.

OTHER DEATHS.

A telegram was received today of the death of Mr. Charles Delagrange at Akron, Ohio, her home. The deceased formerly made her home at Academia this county, and the bereaved husband is a brother of Frank Delagrange, of this city.

The funeral of Mrs. Charles Weller will take place at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the residence, 93 West Jefferson street.

Hannah Shi, aged five months, died of summer complaint last night in the Harrington block. The parents recently came here from Syria, of which nationality there is quite a colony living in the same building. The funeral occurred this afternoon, the interment being in the Catholic cemetery.

The funeral of Courtland Hull took place from the house, No. 5 Brandriff street, this afternoon, Rev. Cooper conducting the services.

Theodore, the three months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ertel, of 203 Gay street, died of fresh decay last night. Funeral will be held tomorrow.

FEARFUL DEATH.

Young Son of Joseph Smith Fatally Scalded.

While Engaged in Innocent Play He Falls Into a Tub of Hot Water.

Word was received in the city last night of the fatal scalding of Gerald, the two year old son of Joseph Smith, who resides in Lafayette township.

Mrs. Smith was doing the family washing yesterday and had left a tub of scalding water on the kitchen floor while she went in the yard to hang out the clothes. Little Gerard, while engaged in innocent play with a pet dog, toddled too near the tub and fell backward into it. The screams of the child attracted Mrs. Smith and her husband who did all in their power to save its life, but unsuccessfully, for the little one passed away a few hours afterward, suffering fearful agony to the last. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have widespread sympathy in their awful bereavement.

The city school board have selected a new superintendent for our public schools, Mr. Justin N. Study, of Richmond, who is said to be highly equipped in every way for the duties of the position. His name, Study, is suggestive and ought to be an inspiration to every pupil in our schools.

Our candidate for congress, Mr. James M. Robinson, in an interview, declares himself for the free coinage of silver. He is with his party on the money question, as expressed in the state and national platforms.

The Daily Argus at Laporte made its first appearance last Saturday. It is an eight column folio, and bears evidence of having come to stay. The Wadsworth company are the publishers of this new candidate for popular favor.

The mix-up in the political situation is curiously illustrated in Michigan. The Detroit Tribune, the leading republican paper of the state, has bolted the St. louis platform and is supporting the free silver candidates, while the leading democratic paper, the Free Press, bolts the Chicago platform and supports McKinley.

This is a great year for bolting. Every national convention thus far held has witnessed its secession. The fashion started with our prohibition friends, who split upon the silver proposition. This was followed by the bolt at St Louis, and then came the divide which took place in the democratic convention at Chicago.

Dr. John S. Irwin, who, with the end of the last school year, closed his services as superintendent of the public schools of this city, has filled that position efficiently for a number of years and in retiring carries with him the esteem of all our citizens. Under his superintendency the schools of our city have made marked progress and it is generally considered that Fort Wayne stands at the head of the list in the efficiency of her free schools. Much of this is due to Dr. Irwin, who was always active in advancing its interests.

Our editorial friend, Mr. Frank J. Zimmerman, who for a long time has been publishing the Weekly Union at Warsaw, has again launched a daily at that place called the Warsaw Evening Herald. It is a seven column folio and warmly supports the nomination of Bryan and Sewall. Mr. Zimmerman is a trained and able newspaper man and The Sentinel wishes him success in his daily venture.

The nomination of the Hon. Arthur Sewall, of Maine, as the running mate of William J. Bryan, did more than refute the charge of sectionalism urged against the Chicago convention. Mr. Sewall is a man of extensive affairs, aside from his large shipbuilding interests. He is the president and principal owner of the Bank of Bath, and there is hardly a corporation in his native county, whether bank, factory or railroad, in which he is not a director. The brief biographical sketchs in the newspapers tell us that in politics Mr. Sewall has been a life-long democrat. He was an original Cleveland man and followed the career of the Buffalo statesman until acout two years ago. Ever since the greenback victory which swept Maine in 1880 Mr. Sewall has been a close student of the financial question and this has crystallized in him to a thorough belief in bimetallism and the free coinage of both silver and gold.

In the conditions and circumstances which attended the nomination of Wm. J. Bryan in the Chicago convention the other day every casual observer has noticed the parallel to that dramatic incident which, sixteen years ago, in the same city, resulted in the nomination of James A. Garfield as the candidate of the republican party for president. Then, as in the recent case, it was the eloquence of the man, as disclosed in a convention speech, that turned the tide in his favor, and then, as in the recent case, the episode was attended by the most extraordinary exhibition of enthusiasm. There were some important differences in the conditions, it is true, but they only make the similarity more marked. Garfield's speech was made in the interest of a man and Bryan's in support of a principle. In one the inspiring influence of friendship and loyalty was presumably the force that put eloquence on the tongue, and in the other that even more potential agency—devotion to a cause—was the dominant spirit. Garfield's speech was probably the more profound; Bryan's the more magnetic. But they were alike masterful specimens of oratorical fire and force, and each brought the answer.

In Place of the Saloon.

As a matter of curiosity, if nothing else, a Harvard professor's views on the beer saloon are worth reading. These are to be found in Professor Peabody's "Substitutes For the Saloon."

The learned gentleman is of opinion that the saloon flourishes not so much because of the poor man's love of drink as because of his love of sociability, and in this he is no doubt right. The professor repeats, what has often been said before, that the drinking saloon is the poor man's club. In it he finds light, merriment, games and newspapers. A place therefore that would combine the social features without the intoxicating drink feature would constitute the model substiture for the saloon. This is true; still it would not stop the evil caused by too much beer drinking. It is in deluging himself with sour, swill-like, cheap beer, "rushing the growler," as it is called, in the daytime, during rests in his working hours, that a good part of the laboring man's wages is spent. Professor Peabody would have to find a substitute for either this beer or the appetite that craves it if he would save the poor man's money. Perhaps if the poor man had more nourishing and palatable food for luncheon it would go far to stop the beer guzzling through the day.

The professor is of opinion that if somebody could invent an attractive drink that would not be intoxicating and if the poor man's social instinct could be satisfied at the same time without the accompaniment of intoxicating drinks, a long step forward in human progress would be made. The best social substitute for the saloon would be a poor man's club, where he could have games, reading, attractive environments, harmless drinks, etc. Attempts to provide such substitutes will be failures in every case if the poor man thinks there is any taug of religion or charity about them.

Exercise For Middle Aged People.

There are no old people now except those who voluntarily slump down and take a lazy satisfaction in saying they can no longer exert themselves as they did 20 years ago. They say so because they do not want to exert themselves. The most that the spry, up to date person past his youth will confess is that he is [illegible]—well—getting along to be a little middle aged.

One priceless piece of knowledge that the last quarter of the nineteenth century has brought to the people who are perhaps getting along to be a little middle aged is that they actually need more physical exercise than young people do. Unless they take it and keep it up year after year they find themselves becoming fat and heavy and lumbering and stiff in the joints. They are less inclined than they were to walk and run and skip about. Yet giving up to this [illegible] for these persons who feel themselves growing stiff and heavy a powerful incentive exists to have [illegible] the bicycle. It [illegible] and takes off the [illegible] nothing else will. AN EASY WINNER.

First Season of Inter-State League Now Closed.

Fort Wayne Gets Honors at First Place —Second Season Opens Tomorrow.

The first season of the Inter state league closed yesterday, with Fort Wayne an easy winner. The standing of the clubs at the wind up is as follows:

	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Percent.
Fort Wayne	92	54	37	.593
Toledo	92	53	39	.576
Wheeling	92	52	39	.571
Jackson	92	47	45	.511
New Castle	92	39	53	.424
Youngstown	92	38	54	.413
Steubenville	92	36	56	.391
Washington	92	34	58	.369

The second season will open tomorrow, and it is not likely that Fort Wayne will have a walk away. The leaders have made a poor record the past few weeks, and were it not for the tremendous lead they made during the early part of the season, it would not have been so easy to retain first place. The seven other clubs, in the meantime, have built up their weak fences and are in better shape than they were in the start. It is to be hoped that Fort Wayne will use some good judgment now and hold her good name.

Barton, who reviews the situation carefully in the Wheeling News, states that when the season opened many of the teams were thrown together in a hurry. Much of the material was raw and untried. It took weeks to find out the weak spots and strengthen accordingly. This was the case with nearly every club except Fort Wayne and Wheeling in the former case Tobeau's experience aided wonderfully in selecting men who were ready to get in harness at once. The Farmers thus got a long lead which the other teams were not able to overcome. Wheeling would have given them a tougher argument, but the gold bricks the managers had gotten in the way of pitchers proved a fatal weakness.

In the second season, at the first glance, it seems as if at least four clubs have equal chances of winning. Wheeling, Fort Wayne, New Castle and Toledo. It is almost an even thing with all these clubs. So far as you can estimate chances in base ball it is an even thing. The game these teams have been putting up in the last few days is proof of that. Last week Toledo lowered the Fort Wayne colors in great shape and Jackson gave them the same dose.

A point that makes it look favorable for these clubs is their strength in the pitching department. Fort Wayne always has been strong, although Swain and Carrick show signs of weakening Toledo has an assortment in Keenan, Kelb, Van Geisen and Coyle that is hard to beat, while New Castle's Highman, Hewitt and Farmer Brown, with Daniels to fall back on, make that team very formidable.

There does not appear to be much hope for the rest of the teams. Jackson would be as strong as any, but it is weak on the rubber, the same point that cost Wheeling the first pennant. With two or three good pitchers Jackson could take a position among the probable winners. Until then, however, it will be a case of "also ran." Washington has no show with its present team. Although always dangerous, the Millionaires are not of the sort that win pennants. None of their pitchers are men who can be relied upon, while the team is weak in other places. Saginaw and Youngstown are something of an enigma. It is reported that they are considerably strengthened and there are many new faces on the teams, but still more missionary work will have to be done to get them to the required standard.

Wheeling has now a stronger team than it has had since the opening of base ball here. The weakness in the pitching department has been remedied. Instead of being weak there the team is now abnormally strong. It has seven good men and the chief difficulty will be in selecting what ones to release. Borchers, Campbell, Garvey and Baker will probably be the men to stay. In all other positions the team could not be improved. It is strong everywhere, in the field and at the bat.

One of the most gratifying features of the Interstate league is its stability. There is not a minor league in the country that is more solid or as well fixed financially. The Texas league has fallen, the Atlantic association has been reorganized, transfers have been made in the Eastern league, the Western association has been disbanded together with other small organizations. Of the entire lot the Interstate and the Western leagues are the only ones that remain intact; the only ones with the same clubs that they started the season with. Reports from all the towns are favorable. In each active preparations are being made for the opening of the second season which is ample proof that all intend to stick.

The most troublesome question that Interstate magnates have to deal with is the umpire trouble. The two good ones are sick and a number of unsatisfactory amateurs are cavorting around in their places. It is not President Power's fault that such is the case. Good umpires are scarcer than the proverbial hen teeth. No matter what the umpires are, however, such conduct as that of New Castle's on Thursday should be condemned in the severest terms.

STATE LEAGUE A GO.

Although late in the season it seems that the state league is to be a go, as the following towns have signified their willingness to enter into such a compact: Logansport, Kokomo, Elwood, Anderson, Connersville and Rushville. The question has been agitated through out this district of the state since the beginning of the season, and now it appears just to be reaching crystalization.

JACK TAR'S FRIEND.

SAMUEL PLIMSOLL, WHO WANTS US TO LOVE ENGLAND.

He Is Going to Edit American School Histories and Wipe Out an Inherited Race Prejudice—Why All British Sailors Love Him.

Samuel Plimsoll, who has come over here from England to find out why Americans do not love the "mother country" better, is a genial, earnest, kindly old gentleman whose name is dear to every British tar, and who is universally known as "the sailors' friend." He has already won undying fame by giving to the safety load line on British ships the name of the Plimsoll mark, but now, at the age of 70, he begins a new crusade with as much vigor as when he roused the British public to the cries of "poor Jack" more than a quarter of a century ago.

Mr. Plimsoll is a man of original ideas, and not the least interesting of his arguments in favor of his proposal for international unity is the somewhat startling statement that American enmity to England is responsible for the Armenian outrages. He explains this by declaring that, if it had not been for the bitter rankling rancor of the United States over the Venezuelan difficulty, England would have pitched in, despite the frowns of Russia, and disciplined the Turk.

Most of Mr Plimsoll's arguments, however, are more plausible than this. He thinks our school histories are at the bottom of the trouble, and he proposes to edit them for us. The first thing he did after arriving in New York the other day was to get a lot of text books to see what are used in American schools. He wanted to compare the American accounts of the Revolution with those printed in British schoolbooks. When this work is done, Mr. Plimsoll will make a tour through the country and will try to arouse sympathy and enthusiasm for his project.

If all Englishmen were like Samuel Plimsoll, he would have not the slightest difficulty in achieving his object, and if all Americans were as good as he this would be a great and good nation. A great, big heart has Mr. Plimsoll—a heart that beats for all humanity. You know this as soon as you have seen the kindly, benevolent way in which he beams through his glasses at all the world.

More than 30 years ago he began his agitation on behalf of the British sailor, and in that time he has been instrumental in saving many thousands of lives. Being Bristol born, he was brought up among seafaring men and was familiar with the hardships and difficulties to which they were subject. In the autumn of 1873 he was a passenger on a receding steamer during a terrific storm. Next morning he saw the coast from Flamborough Head to the Tees strewn with wrecks. He was so impressed with the awful loss of life and the knowledge that many of the wrecked vessels were known among the sailors as "coffin ships," from the fact that they were worn-out hulks which had been sent out under heavy insurances by their owners in the expectation that they would meet their fate; and then and there he determined to devote his time and abilities to the prevention of these human sacrifices on the altar of greed.

He visited many British seaports and found that, while the majority of ship owners were quite anxious to cooperate with him, there existed among them a class of "[illegible]" as they were called, who actually made money by sending worthless vessels to sea.

In 1875 he stood for parliament, but was defeated by a small majority. Three years later he was triumphant and took his seat from that time until 1890, when he resigned in order to further the cause. In 1875 Mr Plimsoll introduced his famous bill to prevent the overloading of vessels. The government, under the lead of Lord Beaconsfield (then plain Benjamin Disraeli), at first opposed the proposed legislation, but as the session drew to a close Mr Disraeli calmly announced one night that it must be dropped.

Springing to his feet and quivering with emotion, Samuel Plimsoll faced the house of commons alone, and shaking his fist at the government and the opposition alike he dared them to adjourn before they had passed that bill for the protection of the lives of seamen.

Commons was shocked. The speaker sat speechless with amazement. The crowded galleries were awed into silence. It was a moment or two before there were loud cries of "Order!" "Order!" and then the speaker commanded the member from Derby to retire. Mr. Plimsoll did retire, but in a few hours the British workingmen were reading an account of that dramatic incident and an appeal from Mr. Plimsoll.

The country was aroused as if by magic. Meetings were held everywhere, and a fund of over $75,000 was raised to continue the campaign in the interests of protection to sailors. Disraeli's government bent before the rising storm, and a partial measure of relief was hurriedly passed. Since that there has been other legislation on behalf of Jack, and most of it has been the result of Mr. Plimsoll's untiring efforts.

Mr. Plimsoll once before visited this country on a mission, although he was not very successful. It was in the winter of 1890-1. He came over then to get material for his crusade against the overcrowding of cattle ships and the consequent cruelty to the animals as well as the danger to the sailors. He tried to induce the Canadian shippers of live stock to do their slaughtering on this side instead of sending their cattle over alive. Some good resulted from his agitation, but the practice was not stopped by any means. Now, though his hair is white with age and his eyes are rather dim, he has undertaken the task of whipping an inherited race prejudice and of uniting by bonds of brotherly love two of the greatest nations in the world.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies [illegible] then not needed. If afflicted with [illegible] actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Machinist Mills Celebrates His Temperance Anniversary.

Philip Gable Injured—A Wonderful Engine—Personal and Local Gossip.

Thomas Mills, the well known Wabash machinist, is today quietly observing the nineteenth anniversary of his reformation. July 15, 1877, Mr. Mills, who was then addicted to the excessive use of intoxicating drinks, signed the Murphy temperance pledge and since that day has faithfully adhered to the obligations set forth in the little card upon which he then placed his signature. The reformation was regarded as one of the most notable events of the Murphy movement in Fort Wayne, and it restored to respectable manhood a man whom his family and friends feared was beyond all hope of redemption.

AN ENGINE BUILT FOR SPEED.

George F. Wilson, superintendent of motive power of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, has just built on his own design at the company's shops a very fast passenger engine. The total weight of the locomotive is 125,000 pounds, of which 83,000 pounds is on the drivers. The driving wheels are 78 inches in diameter, being the largest on any locomotive running out of Chicago, except No 999, on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, whose drivers are 84½ inches. The wheel centers are cast steel, and the journals of driving axles 9x12 inches. The cylinders are 19½x26 inches The firebox is of the deep, narrow type, with a length of 108 inches, a width of 32½ inches, a depth front of 79½ inches, back 68½ inches, and it has a heating surface of 194.3 square feet. The tubes are 290 in number and give a heating surface of 1,795 square feet, the total heating surface being 1,883.3 square feet. The grate area is 24.5 square feet. The working steam pressure is 190 pounds per square inch. The tender is of exceptionally large capacity, the tank holding 4,000 gallons of water, and the coal space being for 9 tons.

SHOPMAN INJURED.

Philip Gable, who has charge of a finishing room in the foundry department of the Base works, was injured this morning in a manner which may lay him up for some days. He was handling a "chill," a heavy piece of perhaps 600 pounds, which is used in moulding car wheels, when it slipped off the bed of a machine and the sharp edge struck and cut a long gash across Mr Gable's right leg, about two inches above the knee. The injury is a very painful one.

HOT WEATHER DYSPEPSIA.

Hot weather dyspepsia may be recognized by the following symptoms: Depression of spirits, heaviness and pain in the stomach after meals, loss of flesh and appetite, no desire for food, bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, wind in stomach and bowels, irritable disposition, nervous weakness, weariness, sensleeness, headache, palpitation, heartburn. It is a mistake to treat such troubles with "tonics," "blood purifiers," "sarsaparillas," "pills," because the whole trouble is in the stomach. It is indigestion or dyspepsia and nothing else.

All these symptoms rapidly disappear when the stomach is relieved, strengthened, and cleansed by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They should be taken after meals and a few carried in the pocket to be used whenever any pain or distress is felt in the stomach. They are prepared entirely for stomach troubles.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are endorsed by such physicians as Dr. E. Harlandson, Jr. Jennison, and Dr. Mayer, because they contain the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which when taken into the stomach cause the prompt digestion of the food before it has time to ferment and sour, which is the cause of the mischief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are pleasant to take and unequaled for infants, children and every person afflicted with imperfect digestion. It is safe to say they will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Nearly all the druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages at 50 cents. A book on stomach troubles and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

HER KISS, THEN DEATH.

A KISS, THEN DEATH.

Valente was sent swiftly to eternity in suburban New York last Sunday. The girl had scarce given him the caress when a bolt of lightning robbed her of her betrothed and threw her headlong across his lifeless body. A few hours before the two had become reconciled after months of separation, and they had gone out on a lovely country road to celebrate their reunion. The lover lay that night a corpse in the basement of the Kingsbridge police station. The young woman was in Fordham hospital paralyzed and suffering the greatest mental anguish. Valente was thirty-three years old, a tall, fine-looking fellow, with the darkest of hair and eyes and mustache. He was an overseer in the street cleaning department, New York city. The girl who was with him at his death was Louise Costella. She is only twenty years old, a very pretty and attractive young woman, a native of Italy, as was her lover. She earned a living by making cigars. Valente and Miss Costella became engaged about a year ago. They quarreled four months ago, and no serious appeared the difference that they did not speak. Both were at early mass at the church in East Seventeenth street Sunday morning. So were several of their friends, who had planned to bring the angry lovers together. They succeeded. The two were brought face to face after mass, and then the young man escorted his regained sweetheart home.

Saved by a Brave Girl.

Miss Mamie Yaples, daughter of a farmer living near Ellenville, N. Y., distinguished herself by stopping a runaway horse and rescuing two children. Mrs. Joseph Hood, accompanied by her two daughters, were driving down a hill when the harness broke, frightening the horse and causing it to run wildly for nearly a mile. Mrs. Hood dropped the reins and clung to her children, screaming for help. Miss Yaples, who is an equestrienne, was riding near her home when she saw the peril of mother and her children. Urging her own steed forward the brave girl soon intercepted the runaway horse, and seizing it by the bridle, saved Mrs. Hood and children, who were too weak to stand when taken from the wagon.

Death of Princess Angeline.

Princess Angeline, daughter of Chief Seattle, after whom the city of Seattle, Wash., was named, died the other day of pneumonia. People try to make her out over 100 years old, but this is an error, for the best posted people say she is not over 80. Romancers have given the public to understand she made a trip through the woods to save the town from an attack by Indians. This also deserves to rank with fairy stories.

Stopped on a Tandem.

Lewis Barney, a farmer of Narrowsburg, N. Y., recently purchased a bicycle for his daughter, Susie, contrary to his wife's wishes. The young woman and Mr. Frank Webb, her affianced, had planned an elopement for Sunday afternoon, but Mrs. Barney had secreted her daughter's wheel during the forenoon and refused to produce it. When informed of what had occurred young Webb determined to overcome all obstacles, and that evening appeared with a tandem at a neighbor's, where Miss Barney was calling, and after a ride of three miles they were married. Mr. and Mrs. Webb then rode back to the Barney homestead and were forgiven.
